POLICEMEN TESTIFY TO CONFESSION AND ATTEMPTED BRIBERY

Prosecution Introduces Pile of Evidence in Preliminary Hearing of Murder Charge Against Mrs. Rattenbury and Chauffeur—Love Letter Written in Prison Produced in Court

BOURNEMOUTH, England, April 11 (CP).—A love letter penned in jail, a blood-stained mallet and suspicious of liquor and drugs figure in a pile of prosecution evidence introduced at the preliminary hearing today in an Anglo-Canadian "triangle case."

Handsome forty-one-year-old Alma Rattenbury and her nineteen-year-old chauffeur, George Percy Stoner, were charged with the murder of the woman's husband, sixty-seven-year-old Francis Rattenbury, distinguished architect, formerly of Victoria.

Mrs. Rattenbury lived as a child in Kamloops, and later moved to Victoria. She is understood to have spent some time of her youth in Toronto, but this was not brought out in court. The two sons of the architect, by his first marriage, are now in Canada. Mrs. Rattenbury's marriage, seven years ago, was her second.

ADJOURN TO TUESDAY
Evidence was not completed at the end of the day, and the preliminary hearing was adjourned to next Tuesday.

Much time was spent on the police statements surrounding the interrogation and arrest, first, of Mrs. Rattenbury, the day after her husband was found wounded in his home; and of George Stoner, on his arrest four days later—the day Rattenbury died.

These described Mrs. Rattenbury as a child in Kamloops and having been drinking, saying to the police she had attacked her husband, and "Rats has lived too long," and later declaring: "No, my lover did it."

Medical testimony was that the victim had evidently been struck three separate blows from behind, and the Crown produced a heavy wooden mallet, with grey hairs and bloody skin adhering to it, found in the Rattenbury home.

Stoner had two pictures of Mrs. Rattenbury and a love letter from her, written after her arrest, when Continued on Page 3, Column 5

BILL RECEIVES RAPID PASSAGE

All Parties Give Blessing to Plan for Rehabilitation of Drought Areas

OTTAWA, April 11 (CP).—Twenty-four hours after it was introduced, the Government's drought relief bill passed through the House of Commons today. It had the blessing of all parties, but warnings were issued against building extravagant hopes.

The bill will appropriate $750,000 this year and $100,000 for each of the next four to fight drought in the Prairie provinces. Dams will be built to store water, fibrous grasses sown, trees planted and illustration stations established to show farmers what can be done to reclaim their parched lands.

CO-OPERATIVE PLAN
An advisory committee will be formed to guide the Federal Department of Agriculture which will co-operate with Provincial agencies. John Brown (Liberal, Ligon), a Western farmer for fifty-three years, believed the most good would come from grasses, strip farming and other cultural methods.

The minister said no one must be too optimistic over the scheme. Dams would be built to conserve water, but that might or might not produce rain. The main objective was to raise the morale of the people and try to prepare for another drought cycle.

While supporting the bill, Hon. W. R. Motherwell (Liberal, Melville), thought the Government should have acted sooner.

DISCOVERS BODY OF LOST TRAPPER

J. J. McDougall, Missing Since Last January, Perished Within Short Distance of Shelter

NELSON, April 11 (CP).—Discovery of a few scattered bones, a pack, gun, trapper's licence and other effects, near Apex, about eight miles south of Nelson, by Robert Qua, today disclosed the fate of John Jackson McDougall, trapper, who had been missing since early in January.

The remains were found about a mile from O'Genski's Ranch and 100 yards from the Great Northern Railway track. The body had been dug up from underneath five feet of snow by coyotes and ravens. The man evidently dropped beside the fence where he was walking. The snow was then about eighteen inches deep.

Is Heavily Fined For Moonshining

CAMPBELL RIVER, April 11.—This morning, Axel Youngstrom, of Greenpoint, was fined $500 or nine months in jail, for being in possession of whisky-making apparatus exhibited in court, which consisted of what excise officials said was an excellent outfit. A copper kettle, worm heaters, hydrometer and pressure tank were exhibited.

Driver and Teacher Among Survivors of Awful Crash in Maryland—Rain and Fog Blamed for Accident—Bodies of Victims Strewn Along Railway Track

ROCKVILLE, Md., April 12 (AP).—An express train last night crashed into a school bus, bringing a death toll estimated by police at thirteen. Physicians and police placed the known death toll shortly after the accident at thirteen, but the Baltimore offices of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, whose train was involved, announced the death list was between nineteen and twenty-three.

WHEAT LOSSES MOUNTING FAST

Clouds of Dust Hang Like Pestilence Over Southwestern States

KANSAS CITY, April 11 (AP).—Out of the choking clouds which still hung like a pestilence over thousands of square miles in the southwestern United States—the brewing pot of big dust storms—reports emerged tonight of rapidly mounting losses in wheat, "the money crop."

Piece by piece the gloomy picture came from the area where the storm was concentrated—Southeastern Colorado, Southwestern Kansas, Northwestern Oklahoma and the Texas Panhandle.

It was tempered in part by reports elsewhere. The big wheat areas of Northwestern and North Central Kansas maintained a favorable outlook. Rain and snow raised hopes in the northwestern tier of states.

LOSS IN MILLIONS
Walter Barlow, Amarillo grain elevator operator, estimated the wheat crop damage in the Texas Panhandle to range between $10,000,000 and $20,000,000 based on current prices.

Three states reported flights of families from stricken areas in the Oklahoma Panhandle, in Eastern New Mexico and in Hamilton County at the western edge of Kansas. Near Garden City, Kas., a combination freight and passenger train stalled for the third consecutive day, its locomotive derailed by drifted dust.

Texas State senators wore surgical masks in their session at Austin. The storm rolled eastward across the Mississippi River—Cairo, Ill., reporting dust clouds for the first time this year.

Governor Guest At Vimy Dinner

CALGARY, April 11 (CP).—Their Excellencies the Earl of Beaulieu and Lady Beaulieu, arrived here today on their farewell tour. They were welcomed by Mayor Andrew Davidson, City Commissioner T. B. Riley, the City Council, and other prominent citizens.

VISIBILITY POOR

Those at the scene said rain and fog made visibility poor. Police reported the view of the crossing normally was good.

Five injured were rushed to one Washington, D.C., hospital, while others made ready to treat more. Twenty-eight pupils of the Williamsport, Md., High School; the driver, and Miss Louise Funk, a teacher, were in the bus.

The pupils, whose ages ranged down from eighteen years, were accompanied by the principal of the Williamsport, Md., High School, which they attended. They were returning from a chemistry exhibition at the University of Maryland.

CARRIED FOR MILE

The train caught the wreckage of the bus and carried it what police estimated at a mile before it could be stopped.

ISLANDS TO BE CHARTED

Chief Hydrographer Will Work On West Coast of Queen Charlottes

Far more information concerning the west coast of the Queen Charlotte Islands will be available for the benefit of mariners before another twelve months go by, it was learned yesterday afternoon when H. D. Parizeau, chief of the Hydrographic Survey on the Pacific Coast of Canada, stated that the Department of Marine had requested a survey of the west coast of Moresby Island to be proceeded with as soon as possible following the commissioning of the survey ship William J. Stewart.

At present, apart from the local knowledge possessed by some fishermen and small boat men, very little official information is available concerning the coast of either Moresby or Graham Islands, with the exception of a harbor on the former island, which was surveyed about 1924. Some splendid harbors are reported to exist on the outside of the islands, but as no attempts were ever made to chart the area, other than the harbor mentioned, it is not known what hazards there are, if any.

TO SAIL ON MONDAY

The Stewart will be commissioned on Monday next, and at 3 o'clock in the afternoon will sail for Kyquut Sound with the staff of the houseboat Pender and her season's equipment aboard. From Kyquut the ship will return here about the end of next week, and on Easter Monday, pending the installation of special equipment on two launches, consisting of echo-sounding machines and new gasoline engines, which have just arrived and are necessary for the speeding up of the

Parliament to Adjourn Until May 28—British Columbia Liberals Object to Delay

OTTAWA, April 11 (CP).—Parliament will adjourn next Wednesday until May 28, it was announced in the House of Commons today by Sir George Perley, Acting Prime Minister.

Two British Columbia Liberals, Hon. Ian Mackenzie and Fred Hanbury, objected to sitting until Wednesday, claiming they could not get home by Easter. They suggested the House sit all day Saturday, then recess.

There was sufficient work before the House to keep it busy until Wednesday, Sir George Perley said, turning down the request.

Eleven Feared Lost When Storm Sends Ship to the Bottom

Nine Seamen Missing and Two Known Dead After Vessel Turns Turtle—Survivors Suffer Great Hardships Before Rescue Comes

KINGSTON, Jamaica, April 11 (CP).—Eleven deaths were feared tonight as the toll of a Caribbean storm that sent a freighter plunging suddenly to the ocean bottom twenty miles offshore.

When darkness shut down, nine seamen of the Norwegian steamship Havmo were missing and two were dead. Only seven of her crew had reached land to tell of sudden tragedy, of a losing battle with death on the tropical sea, and of rescue when hope had all but vanished.

ADRIATIC WRECKAGE

For more than two days five of the survivors drifted about the sea on a tossing piece of floatwood, watching death snatch shipmates away, and watching for the ships that would not come.

France Makes Unexpected Move for Support to Her Protest Against German Rearmament, Producing Memorandum of Hitler's Repudiations of Treaties

German Demands Prevent Her Admission to League

(Copyright, 1935, by the Associated Press)

STRESA, April 11.—A clash of opinion between British and French delegations developed at today's inaugural sessions of the tri-power conference here, authoritative quarters said tonight, after France moved unexpectedly to get British and Italian support for her appeal to Geneva against German rearmament.

The French, it was learned, tossed into the midst of the afternoon session their memorandum of Adolf Hitler's alleged repudiations of treaties.

Premier MacDonald, Premier Benito Mussolini of Italy and Premier Pierre-Etienne Flandin of France, reached no decision as to the method of handling the French protest, and the problem will be tackled again tomorrow.

Flandin and his Foreign Minister, Pierre Laval, both urged the necessity of clear-cut action in remonstrating against Germany's violation of the Versailles Treaty by her rearmament.

POSITION CLEARLY STATED

Clearly and definitely, Great Britain stated her position as the parley got under way today. The British delegates declared their readiness to do everything possible to demonstrate the "solidarity" of purpose between the three governments. They made it clear no country should make assumptions, in the interests of its own policy, Continued on Page 3, Column 6

DETERMINED TO CLEAR AGENDA

Bill to Invalidate Ontario Hydro Contracts Passes Third Reading

TORONTO, April 12 (CP).—Early today as the Ontario Legislative Assembly went into its third all-night convocation for the week, Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn announced the order sheet would be cleared if the House had to remain sitting until 10 o'clock in the morning.

Members, who at the beginning of the week set an all-time record by remaining in session for thirty-seven consecutive hours, took the Premier's announcement without flinching. The House went into committee, and bill after bill was introduced and debated.

GIVEN THIRD READING

The Government's bill to invalidate hydro contracts with four Quebec power companies passed third reading in the Legislature last night by a vote of 57-17. The measure becomes law on a date to be set by the Lieutenant-Governor in his proclamation.

Attorney-General Arthur W. Roebuck told the House, in summing up the Government's position with regard to the Power Contracts Bill, that the Cabinet would meet the people who generated power and would go "as far as we can to preserve their interests while protecting our people first."

Premier Hepburn's bill to terminate contracts provided for cancellation of the agreements with the Gathenau Power Company, Beaudouin Light, Heat & Power Company; Ottawa Valley Power Company and James MacLaren Company.

Ask Release From Prison For Jubilee

OTTAWA, April 11 (CP).—Police revealed today they had received seven written applications from Carleton County Jail prisoners asking for freedom under the proposed King's Silver Jubilee amnesty.

One prisoner wrote that he was anxious to obtain his liberty to do proper honor to His Majesty's twenty-fifth anniversary. He has a record of sixty-five convictions, sixty of them for drunkenness.

More than forty-eight hours before boats picked them up today their ship went to the bottom off Jamaica's Portland Point, as she steamed from Black River, Jamaica, toward France, with a cargo of logwood.

The 2,500-ton freighter, just ten months off the ways, was in command.

Rising Silver Price Expected to Assist Industry in Canada

Far-Reaching Benefits Foreseen as Value of White Metal Reaches Highest Point in Nine Years—Many Mines Likely to Reopen—Stock Markets Reflect the Upturn

OTTAWA, April 11 (CP).—Any rise in the price of silver will naturally bring advantages to the industry in Canada, but the trend of United States policy on the white metal might prove a deterrent to world stabilization of currency and prejudice the economic situation of China, according to unofficial comment here today.

Treasury and other Government officials here maintained their usual policy of refusing comment on the policies of foreign Governments, but monetary and treasury experts here were watching the situation with considerable interest, and the Government is constantly advised of developments.

IS IMPORTANT PRODUCER

Apart from the general effect on all countries of any disturbance of monetary values retarding world stabilization efforts, Canada would stand only to gain by increased silver prices, being one of the world's leading producers. On the other hand, the Dominion Treasury will be called upon to carry an extra burden in carrying out its silver-buying obligations.

Under the terms of the silver agreement adopted at the World Economic Conference, Canada is obligated to retire from export about 1,600,000 ounces of newly-mined Canadian silver. The agreement has three or more years to run.

WORLD PRICE GAINS

TORONTO, April 11 (CP).—The week's sharp advance in the world price for white metal, resulting, it the silver ratio championed by the late William Jennings Bryan.

NOT SIGNIFICANT

Wall Street and La Salle Street financial and brokerage circles were inclined, however, to regard the silver flare in the monetary firmament as interesting but not particularly significant, for the moment at least.

In China, the only large country now on a silver monetary basis, bankers viewed the rise in metal prices with misgivings, for they regarded it as a deflationary influence, increasing the purchasing power of their currency and, in consequence, tending to depress prices.

In United States markets, foreign bar silver for commercial use jumped 11-2 cents to 66 cents an ounce, the highest in nine years. In London, the silver price pushed up close to the equivalent of 69 cents an ounce.

IN HANDS OF TREASURY

The world silver market is regarded, for the moment at least, as United States Treasury. With its almost entirely in the hands of the programme of bringing its monetary reserves of silver up to 25 per cent of its reserve of gold, it would have to buy more than 1,000,000,000 ounces of silver on a higher basis. In so far as available stocks of silver are visible, this would take more than is in sight. These visible supplies, which might come into the market, are chiefly the stocks of London, Shanghai, Bombay and the Indian currency reserve, estimated at around 650,000,000 ounces.

MAYOR LEEMING SEES MOVE TO PROSPERITY

ated an opportunity to rectify these conditions which have largely retarded progress. Already the foundation for a new and more purposeful progress has been laid; a new and happier future has been envisioned and a determination to lay plans for co-ordinated advancement of the Island as a whole has been reached. These permit of a planned economy, which presages a new measure of prosperity.

"It is to construct this foundation for the betterment of all classes of citizens that arrangements have been made to hold an Island-wide congress at Nanaimo. The town will be en fête; there will be entertainment at which citizens from every community will fraternize, renew old friendships and make new ones; and there will be serious discussions between municipal heads to further the progress and prosperity of every section and the Island as a whole.

VERY IMPORTANT

"I consider that this gathering will be of immense importance. It is vital that Victoria should show that it is anxious to win the support of other sections, and at the same time demonstrate that this city is ready and willing to extend the fullest measure of co-operation possible to other communities. It is therefore most desirable that Victoria be strongly represented at this most unique gathering, which promises to be a turning point to better times. I therefore appeal to all public-minded citizens to use every endeavor to join the Victoria contingent at Nanaimo on April 27, and prove conclusively that this city is determined to do its share towards attaining Island prosperity."

survey, the ship will be employed in the vicinity of Powell River and Powell Islands.

On her way back to Victoria to pick up the balance of her equipment, the Stewart will relocate the positions of the buoys at the entrance of the Fraser River, from the lightship to King Edward Cut.

TO CARRY BIOLOGIST

It is expected that by the end of the month the Stewart will get away for the Queen Charlotte Islands, where she will be employed for some time carrying out triangulation, topography and the coast lining of the west coast of Moresby Island. While engaged in this work, there will be a representative of the Biological Station at Nanaimo aboard, who will carry on oceanic investigations when the weather interferes with the hydrographic work.

The survey work on Kyquod Sound will be continued by the Pender, which includes coast lining, triangulation, topography and shore sounding between Tatchu Point and Cape Cook.

Colonist Amateur Snapshot Contest To Be Held Again

Generous Cash Prizes Offered During May, June, July and August—Contest Open to Residents of Vancouver Island—Technical Skill Not Essential

WITH the lengthening days and with brilliant sunshine becoming the rule rather than the exception, everyone is preparing for the day or week-end outing into the country. Cameras are pulled down from top shelves, where they have accumulated dust during the long dark days of Winter and are checked over for the coming season.

Encouraged by the outstanding success achieved by last year's contest, The Daily Colonist again announces an amateur snapshot competition, whereby cash prizes and honorary awards are presented to the amateur photographer who submits the best snapshot, judging to be done on merits of subject rather than technical skill.

SUBJECT IMPORTANT

This contest, open during May, June, July and August, is so arranged as to give everyone an equal chance to carry off a prize. The only requisite is an eye to effect and an instinctive knowledge of what makes an attractive picture. Many prize winners of last year admitted that they were absolute tyros with no experience to back their photographic efforts. Human interest, ingenuity, comedy and sheer scenic beauty all have their place in the judging.

The first prize is ten dollars cash; the second, five dollars; third, three dollars, and the fourth prize, two dollars. Ten additional cash prizes of one dollar each are also offered. Fifteen of the next best entries will be given honorable mention, and The Crystal Finish Photographers of Victoria are again co-operating in presenting each of the honorable mention class with an easel mount enlargement of the snapshot submitted.

ENTRIES PUBLISHED

The prize-winning entries will be published in The Daily Colonist, judging to take place at the end of each month. The rules are simple, the main requisite being that the

GOOD HAUL FOR CHIEF SCOUTER

Lord Baden-Powell, With Governor, Goes Fishing at Brentwood

Lord Robert Baden-Powell had fresh grise from Brentwood Bay for dinner last night, as the result of a successful trolling expedition with Hon. J. W. Fordham Johnson, Lieutenant-Governor, and Major James Wise, district scout commissioner. The Chief Scout and his party caught, as they expressed it, "seven and a quarter fish." The quarter was the remains of a grise chewed by a dogfish. The fish ranged from one to four pounds. The Chief Scout hooked three.

Lord Baden-Powell was satisfied with the day's catch and, if possible, he will take his two daughters, Hon. Heather and Hon. Betty, to Brentwood today, on a fishing expedition immediately after planting a tree in the Mayors' Grove, Beacon Hill Park. This ceremony will take place at 2:15 o'clock. His Lordship will address the Men's Canadian Club at 12:15 o'clock today, at the Empress Hotel.

TOOTH TREATED

Earlier yesterday, Lord Baden-Powell was treated for an abscessed molar, but it did not spoil his outing.

His aide, Lieut.-Colonel Granville Walton, was treated in hospital for a minor operation. Later, Colonel Walton addressed local Scout officials on "Rover Scouting."

Saturday afternoon, at 3 p.m., a grand rally of about 2,500 Island Boy Scouts, Girl Guides, Brownies and Wolf Cubs will be held at the Willows in honor of Lord and Lady Baden-Powell. To insure that Lord Baden-Powell's address to the Scouts and audience will be heard, a loudspeaker system will be operating. The Chief Scout will speak from a specially constructed platform in the centre of the field.

The crowd is asked to refrain from crowding around the Chief Scout for autographs and snapshots, and a special bodyguard of Boy Scouts will surround him during the afternoon. The afternoon's show is expected to take about ninety minutes, and will include a demonstration by Girl Guides and Boy Scouts, as well as displays by Wolf Cubs and Brownies. Lady Baden-Powell, Chief Guide, will speak during the afternoon. The party will leave Victoria on Sunday afternoon, en route East.

WAGE BOARD SETS CHARGE

Board and Lodging Costs at B.C. Plant Is Mandatorily Lowered

Mandatory reduction of a charge to employees for board and lodging at Harrison Mills, Ltd. was ordered by the British Columbia Industrial Relations Board yesterday in an order gazetted a charge of $1.10 per diem as the maximum permissible.

The order set out that an investigation had been made at the premises, and that in the opinion of the board an existing charge for three meals a day and lodging, with bedding, was excessive.

The order was the only one gazetted during the week, though mention of orders affecting road transportation, janitors and other callings had been previously made.

Adam Bell, chairman of the board, was on the Mainland yesterday, but is expected back in the city today.

Service Station Operators at Nanaimo Testify Before Royal Commission

NANAIMO, April 11 (CP).—Service station operators of Nanaimo were heard at this afternoon's session of the Royal Commission investigating coal and petroleum products in British Columbia.

Two proprietors of stations leased from the oil companies stated they had paid thirty cents per gallon for their gas. This included one cent for rental. In addition, they paid one dollar per month as rent. Others told of being invoiced for thirty-one cents per gallon and obtaining a two-cent rebate. Witnesses testified that they sometimes sold this gasoline for thirty-five cents per gallon, at other times at three gallons for one dollar.

District branch managers of the Imperial Oil, Home Oil, Shell Oil and Union Oil companies gave evidence to the effect that dealers were charged thirty-one cents per gallon with a two-cent rebate at the end

OVER-GOVERNMENT

The Canadian Chamber of Commerce proposes that a Commission should be appointed to survey the whole field of governmental expenditure with a view to suggesting economies. The proposal is, of course, based on what happened because of the May and Macmillan Commissions in Great Britain. Those bodies led to Great Britain going off the gold standard, the putting into effect of widespread economies, balancing the national budget and other measures, all of which contributed to recovery from depressed economic conditions.

There should be no need for such a commission as is proposed in Canada, because the facts of over-government are apparent here. There is a top-heavy Parliament at Ottawa and top-heavy Legislatures in the nine Provinces. There is duplicated income taxation; there are hosts of unnecessary officials. There is a habit of appointing expensive bureaus, councils, and committees, and delegating to them some of the duties which ought to be exercised by civil servants. There is a habit of engaging in sectional public works that are wholly unnecessary. There is loose expenditure in many directions, and, as a consequence, there is an ever-recurring fear of increasing taxation. The problem is for governments themselves to adopt a business-like attitude, and begin by reducing their own personnel, which is cumbersome, unwieldy and far too exuberant in expenditures.

Common sense, and not a commission, is required. The country is obviously over-loaded with governments. There should be one instead of three for the Prairie Provinces; one for the three Maritime Provinces, and British Columbia and the Yukon should be amalgamated for administrative purposes. There should be a redefinition of fields of taxation as between the Provinces and the Dominion. There should be one instead of two railway administrations, whereby the country could be saved $75,000,000 annually. By the exercise of common sense the cost of government could be cut in two in Canada, and the taxpayers enabled to use the money saved in productive enterprise which would more than meet the unemployment created by a reduction in the hordes of government servants. We in this country pride ourselves on the exercise of common sense, and yet give an exhibition of over-government which, particularly because of the emphasis laid on it in depressed times, constitutes a sorry commentary on our intelligence.

PREMIER PATULLO'S REFUSAL

The Mayors of the country who recently held a conference at Montreal appointed thereat a "continuing committee" to forward the purposes they have in view, one of those purposes being to induce the Dominion Government to assume the entire cost of unemployment relief. In pursuit of this, that committee has invited the Premiers of the nine Provinces to go to Montreal for a conference regarding the next steps that might be taken, the idea being of course to bring pressure to bear on the Federal authorities.

Premier Pattullo has declined the invitation to go to Montreal to confer with a committee of Mayors. He is absolutely right, for, as he points out, municipalities are the creations of Provincial Legislatures. The Mayors' Conference appears to have given some, at least, of its members swollen heads. Such an organization, no matter how representative, has not the power to stampee Provincial Governments, and whatever dignity attached to the Montreal Conference is somewhat shaken by that body, or any creation out of it, thinking that it can invoke a gathering of Premiers to listen to its demands. The viewpoints of the Provinces on unemployment relief are known to the Dominion Government. They have been the subject of discussion at more than one conference at Ottawa, and it is waste of time and money for another such gathering to be held. Mr. Pattullo is on absolutely logical ground in refusing the invitation to go to Montreal. Moreover, it is beginning to appear that the Mayors' Conference and its aftermath has been designed by some astute individuals for political purposes in view of an approaching Federal election.

NAVAL ESTIMATES

Great Britain's latest Naval Estimates indicate the country is awakening to a sense of the realities of these latter times. The expenditure for the present fiscal year, as compared with last year, is to be increased by $3,500,000. Even with this increase Great Britain is not building up to what she is permitted to build under the London Naval Treaty. She has provided for three new cruisers, totaling 27,000 tons, whereas she has an allowance of 53,000 tons in that category. It is doubtful even if the cruisers provided for will be laid down during the current year. Nothing can be done at present in the matter of providing new capital ships. No more may be built until January, 1937, and by that time only three out of the fifteen which Great Britain possesses will be under age. In other words, twelve of them will have become technically obsolete.

There is criticism of the Estimates because they provide for eleven sloops and other vessels of non-combatant value, whereas the contention is that every available penny should be spent on strengthening the fighting line. A sum of $2,554,000 is to be spent on modernizing the Fleet, a sum required because Great Britain permitted this process to remain in suspense during her efforts to promote disarmament by unilateral gestures. In naval matters, Great Britain has a lot of leeway to make up because of the course she has been pursuing. The trend of events in Europe should be a guarantee that the Navy will never again be allowed to fall below the margin of safety, as it unquestionably has done in recent years.

GREAT BRITAIN'S BUDGET SURPLUS

Great Britain's surplus for the present financial year is approximately $36,000,000, according to budget figures. Two years ago the deficit was $180,000,000. There is nothing in all the operations of governments that makes for greater confidence in the business world than balanced budgets. It is the financial course that Great Britain has led to her remarkable trade revival in comparison with other nations. It has led, as well, to a handsome reduction in the number of unemployed. The British Board of Trade reports that the last financial year showed greater industrial activity than in 1929, before the depression commenced.

During the last few years there has been a babel of talk from economists and others about the need for conscripting wealth, and regimenting the ways of mankind. There are dictatorships in Italy, in Germany, in Turkey and in Poland, and there is something very much like a dictatorship in the United States. Not one of those countries has succeeded in balancing its budget. The United States is going hundreds of millions of dollars into arrears each succeeding year. Great Britain has set the example of making revenue meet expenditure, which is the only safe and sound way in any economic system that is to survive. It is no wonder whatever that conditions in Great Britain are better than in any other countries, and that is because her return to prosperity is based on the principles of sound common sense.

"SCRAPS OF PAPER"

There are some interests in this country, and notably the Government of Ontario, whose mouths must remain closed on the subject of Germany tearing up the Treaty of Versailles. That is to say that they must keep silence if they are consistent, for there is the spectacle in Ontario of repudiation of contracts entered into by the Hydro-Electric Commission, the tearing up of bonds drawn up in the spirit of business presumed to be conducted in an ethical way. The value of the power company's bonds has depreciated by some $40,000,000 since the attack was launched by the Heppburn Government. Now that the repudiation of contracts is the subject of Government legislation the decline will probably be much greater.

This has all happened quickly in the Eastern Province. It was not anticipated a brief two months ago. At that time Mr. Stewart Lyon, the chairman of the Ontario Hydro Commission, said: "I hope the day will never come when we of this country, when we of this Province, shall in any way repudiate our bond and our word which is behind our bond." Mr. Lyon is the appointee of Mr. Heppburn, but he evidently does not voice the opinion of the Premier of Ontario. The opinion he does voice is that of the late Sir Adam Beck, who must be writing in his grave at what is happening in connection with the great hydro-electric organization which he built up with such infinite pains and established as one of the greatest organizations of its kind on the continent.

BUREAUCRACY IN U.S.A.

No more frequent charge is brought against some of the activities of the Federal administration than that they involve a dangerous and unwarranted increase of bureaucracy. Behind and apart from the merely disparaging implications of the word, this charge of bureaucracy seems more or less reducible in the minds of those who bring it to three specific charges; first, that there is too great an enhancement of the functions and powers of executive agencies of government at the expense of the legislative and judicial agencies; second, that the Government is undertaking to perform too many functions; and, third, that for the foregoing or other reasons there is too great an increase in the number of governmental employees, and consequently in the expenses of government and the resulting burden on the taxpayer.

E. J. R. A. D.

God made him, and therefore let him pass for a man.
But man, proud man,
Drest in a little brief authority,
Most ignorant of what he's most assured—
His glassy essence—like an angry ape,
Plays such fantastic tricks before high Heaven,
As make the angels weep.
—Shakespeare.

Politics is said to be a dirty trade. It is not necessary to postulate that the state of the political trade is distinctly messy at the present time; yet there must be something fascinating about the abstract science of government, for there are more practising politicians in Canada now than there ever were, if not before, at least within the compass of our recollection. Sometimes we think there must be some kinship between the political trade and the printing trade. At the time in the history of this country when society was crude and lacking culture, the ambition of a printer's devil or to learn the trade of a locomotive engine driver, both messy jobs, one of them considered dangerous. It must have been either the dirt or the hazard, possibly both, which proved so fascinating to the male youth of the country.

We suppose it must be because both the printing trade and the engineering trade have become sheltered occupations that so many men are becoming politicians. At any rate, there never was a time when so many men were so anxious to enter the service of the country and to save it from imminent disaster. Politicians are as numerous as fleas in a sandbank, and some of them quite as pestiferous. Therefore the time also would appear to have come when all men and women should abandon their indifference to politics as a dirty trade, take an active interest in politics, and try to save the country from the menace of the politicians.

The political game when played to extremes may become a dangerous game. There are wild men in every province of the Dominion, and there are some of them at Ottawa. The political affairs of Ontario are in a dreadful mess as a result of the election to power of Hon. Mitchell Heppburn and a cabinet of men, all wild and woolly. Heppburn is posing as a born emancipator and is acting as a dictator. He is aping the manners of a Mussolini or Hitler; but he appears to be playing the part of Don Quixote, who was not quite sane and tilted at windmills, under a delusion that the structures were the strongholds of giants and the prisons of slaves and should be levelled and destroyed. Heppburn's dementia takes the form of hatred of money and the alleged tyranny of wealth as represented by money. His vagaries cannot be accounted for except under the assumption that he was bitten by Gerry McGee, that the virus of social credit is coursing through his blood, and that a million bees are buzzing in his bonnet.

At any rate, there is no doubt Heppburn has done precisely what McGee did for British Columbia. He has inflicted a blow upon the credit of the province. Between the two wild men the credit of the whole of Canada has been injuriously affected. As Mayor of Vancouver McGee threatened that the city would allow the interest on the civic bonds to go to default. As Premier of Ontario Heppburn carried a resolution through the Legislature cancelling contracts, which called for the use of electric power generated in the province of Quebec and to be delivered to the Ontario Hydro-Electric system. The excuse of the Premier and his Attorney-General for this arbitrary action was that the power contracted for was not immediately required, and to meet the terms of the contract would mean either the ruin of the hydro-electric system or increases in the rates to consumers of electric light and power.

A few weeks ago the chairman of the Ontario Hydro-Electric system, who happens to be a former editor of The Toronto Globe, stated publicly that the structure he directed was as sound financially as the rock of Gibraltar, and that it was furnishing light, heat and power to consumers in all parts of Ontario at the lowest rates in the world. There is a suspicion that Heppburn is merely playing a political game which he believes will further the bigger political game of the Liberal Opposition at Ottawa. Premier Taschereau, of Quebec, is also supposed to be anxious to see the Bennett Government defeated and Rt. Hon. William Lyon Mackenzie King become Prime Minister of Canada. But if the Premiers of the two big provinces are playing a common Federal political game, they are playing at cross purposes, for Taschereau says that Heppburn's act of repudiation will cost the province of Quebec forty millions of dollars.

But what does an ordained dictator care for such trivial things? When a strong man plays the game of politics, he plays the game of politics.

THE COLONIST IN LONDON
The Colonist may be procured at the International News Stand of Messrs. Selfridge & Co., Oxford Street.

he plays it off his own bat. A mad bull is not concerned about the havoc it makes when it breaks into a china shop. Of what concern is the whole financial structure of Canada when weighed in the balance against the personal and political ambitions of a petty politician? Heppburn has made such a spectacle of himself that even his political friends have not the courage to utter a word in defence of his idiosyncrasies.

Must We Pester Lester?

Tommy Gorman, manager of the Montreal Maroons, must have something that the other bosses in the National Hockey League just haven't got. Gorman just climaxed another season by lifting the Stanley Cup for the second consecutive year, a feat very seldom done these days, with such stiff opposition from at least eight other clubs. However, the beauty of Gorman's two straight wins is that he guided the Chicago Black Hawks to the historic "mug" last season, then deserted the Windy City and headed for Montreal, where he moulded the Maroons into a championship squad in one year. What is behind this manager's ingenuity in handling hockey clubs? We must ask Lester Patrick when he comes home for the Summer. If Lester doesn't know, then Gorman holds the secret himself.—J.D.

Reductio Ad Absurdum . . . Yes?

The Victoria School Board has purchased two sewing machines for the school classes. A trustee reported the regular price of the machines was $123, and a special reduction was made to the Board—wholesale price—$67.50 each. Some price spread.—R.A.G.

Take a Receipt

Take a pay cheque. Deduct the levy for workmen's compensation. Deduct the one per cent income levy. Deduct the proposed three per cent state health levy. Deduct the proposed two per cent school service tax. Deduct—by why bother? Take a receipt.—S.G.

Woodman, Spare Them Trees!

As it was, so it is—but must it ever be thus? While elaborate signs greet the eye along the Island Highway reminding the citizens that "It is YOUR Island, develop it!" the scenery along the Malahat, which is supposed to be one of our major assets, is being despoiled and made hideous by logging operations and their aftermath of denuded mountain sides strewn with untidy slash. One is told that the owners have been forced to sell the timber to meet the taxes. Would it not be cheaper in the long run to remit the taxes, let the owners keep the timber intact, preserve the beauty of the Malahat, continue to delight our visitors with the drive, and make up the value of the taxes by the free advertisement that our tourists will give us and the money they will spend among us, rather than pay for billboards and other paradoxical forms of publicity?—J.E.M.B.

The Gentle Squeeze May Work?

The Victoria School Board is not very pleased with the actions of the crowd that attended a recent basketball championship game at the High School Gymnasium. In fact, the members are seriously considering clamping down the lid on renting the gym. to the Association for next season. Might not be a bad idea for the School Board to go out of the business of "renting," and then, perhaps, a municipal arena for sports of all kinds would be built here. This might also apply to the City Council and the Agricultural Association.—R.A.G.

Popcorn on Wheels

The motorist may at times be a menace to the pedestrian. The pedestrian occasionally is a thorn in the side of the motorist, but, as a perennial, pestiferous peril, what price the boy on a bicycle who fancies himself as a trick rider, and is here, there and everywhere, except on the right side of the road?—B.H.B.-W.

Once in a Lifetime

A two-day birthday celebration was staged recently by the ship's company on the Empress of Japan, which arrived here on Tuesday inbound from the Orient. The celebration was in honor of Mrs. O. K. S. Laugharne, of Kobe, and the festivities lasted two days because Mrs. Laugharne's birthday was on two days, both the same date. The 180th meridian was responsible. Mrs. Laugharne is well known in Victoria. She was formerly Miss Grace Smith, for some years on the staff of the High School.—H.C.M.

"Wanted: Two young men to join Hythe fire brigade on the same terms as previous and past members. That is: Pay, nil; thanks seldom; criticism, plenty; uniform, provided. Hours on duty, 24. We are all happy." This notice is posted outside Hythe (Hants) Fire Brigade station.

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

(From The Daily British Colonist of April 12, 1885.)

Mounted Riflemen—We understand that it is in contemplation to form a local mounted rifle corps, to go into camp in the event of war with Russia, resulting from the present complications. It is understood that Captain Grandville will take command of the corps. The idea is an excellent one, and it is hoped that all patriotic men who own horses and know how to ride them will send in their names. Victoria should be able to place in the field, in case of emergency, 1,000 fighting men.

Real Estate—Several residence lots on Douglas, North Park, James Bay and Pioneer Streets have changed hands during the past week through Bank & Lauder, five and a half acres of the Gravelly estate were disposed of at a good figure, and also three-quarters of an acre on the Neumal Road.

Railway Notes—It is confidently predicted that there will be greater regularity in train arrivals hereafter, by reason of the greatly improved condition of the C.P.R. track, consequent upon the continuous labor being placed upon it and the settled conditions of the weather.

Letters to the Editor

We refer to the Editor with an earnest request that he will be so good as to insert over the proper signature and address of the writer. This rule admits of no exception. No letter should exceed 100 words in length.

AT ARUNDEL CASTLE

Sir,—An illustration showing the portcullis at the Tower of London recently appeared in Scott's scrapbook with a statement, that this one is the only one in working condition in the world. I know of one at Arundel Castle, the seat of the Duke of Norfolk, which is in perfect condition and operation. It is attached to the gateway opening into the great courtyard. This gateway dates from mediaeval times and escaped destruction during the siege of the castle in the great rebellion. Towards the close of the last century the late Duke of Norfolk commenced a vast scheme of restoration and extension at Arundel Castle. The buildings, erected at a previous restoration, 1791-1815, were taken down being in the style of incongruous architecture then in vogue. Any portions of the ancient edifice remaining were carefully preserved, and the castle is today one of the most extensive and imposing private residences in England.

THE BEAUTIFUL IN MUSIC

Sir,—In the surfeit of music of various types that comes to us over the air, it is conspicuous how little, with few exceptions, can we include under the above caption. In the pages of the volume of Divine origin whose intrinsic value will never be surpassed or equaled, we read the words: "Whatsoever things are lovely, etc.; think on those things." For as a man thinks, so is he. It is significant that the Divine Order places things that are true first. What could be more conducive to uplifting thoughts in art than the contemplation of the "concourse of sweet sounds" as in music, which often gives impressions and thoughts too deep for words.

What constitutes that which may be rightly called the beautiful in music? And by what process of thoughts is it to be expressed and classified from other music? It may be that the ultimate worth of music and its inherent beauty must ever depend upon the response of our feelings. Does the merit of a composition depend on the feelings aroused upon hearing it? Can we truly say that an appeal to our emotional faculty is a safe means for fundamental principles? For the impressions conveyed may vary with different hearers. This greatly depends on the intelligence of the listener. Music is often described as the language of the emotions, but should not these emotions be influenced, if not controlled, by underlying principles? Why do certain compositions involuntarily call forth from our lips "How beautiful," while others, perhaps equally as clever, fail to do so? I would say from my own experience: In the first instance the composer builds and develops his work upon an initial theme full of life and appeal, while the other lacks that appeal; the former elaborates his art with originality, while the other is commonplace; the harmony of one may be rich, varied and original, the other may be weak and inappropriate; one may be pulsating with a rhythm of life and strength, the other more or less lifeless. Hence the discernment of the beautiful in music affects our senses, our intelligence and imagination, whether it be the intellectual strength of Bach, the melodic gift of Mozart or Handel, the subjective power of Beethoven, or the grace and charm of Chopin. Many of Bach's preludes, his G sharp minor, E flat minor, G sharp minor are tonal poems revealing to our intelligence musical design of imitation and unity of style, while the development of his fugues fill our mind with wonder and admiration at the skill and originality displayed. Chopin, the true poet of the piano, appeals to us from another angle, from the sheer harmonic beauty and ornate design in melodic structure. His harmonies, sometimes more implied than fully expressed, leave him at the mercy of his interpreters. His delicacy and charm, with unique suggestion of rubato, are best interpreted by those who are in rapport with his graceful music. Liszt marvelled at his playing, the rippling of chromatic scales, the shower of sparkling notes which fell like dew drops on some bend of phrase or turn of cadence. Liszt confessed that the conception of such beautiful music, and playing was new and without precedent.

It is a function of music (the highest) to please, but that pleasure should be one to elevate and not degrade. The object of art is to represent in musical form an idea originating in the artist's mind and imagination, and to view this idea in its relation to nature and life is the very first importance. It is difficult to express one's thoughts on this involved subject without its ethical bearing. I am inclined to believe that everything we do has an ethical significance. Can there be any real beauty in art that does not first come from the beauty resident in the artist's mind? This logically implies that the kind of art produced reflects, to a large extent, the character of the artist.

A candid answer to the question, "What kind of music appeals to you most?" may reveal much. There are those who believe that the beautiful character in society, which means that good looks are rather to be desired than a pure heart and mind; that manners are higher than morals, oblivious of the fact that morals insure the best manners. Ruskin lays down a commonplace criticism: "that all beautiful art is rooted in virtue; that the foundation of art is moral character; that great art is the expression of the mind of a great mind." Matthew Arnold says that "conduct is three-fourths of life," and this is moral conduct. Someone has said: "Every rational being says 'I enjoy that which is beautiful,' and with equal clearness affirms 'I ought to do that which is right.'" That right is as natural and obligatory as beauty is enjoyable; and both belong to the constitution of some men. Keats with a poet's licence, closes his "Ode to a Grecian Urn" with a sweeping statement in his well-known couplet, "Beauty is truth, truth beauty—that is all ye know on earth, and all ye need to know." Also, "A thing of beauty is a joy forever," which is true of many a musical composition.

CORRECT DRIVING

Sir,—The crash on Sunday evening at the corner of Fort and Vancouver Streets again reminds us that the average driver seems to consider the through streets as giving right-of-way, which is, of course, not the fact.

As I drive rapidly along one of these streets, if a car is seen at a stop sign, four questions should occur to me: Is the car stopping? Will it wait for me to pass? Is it starting again? Will it start slowly or like a rocket? If I strike it head on, I am to blame. All these questions should be in my mind as I scan the crossroads, with hand on throttle and foot on brake, if any car is near the intersection.

There appear to be only two ways in which this fact can be impressed on the average driver: An accident to his own car—not to some other car—and a course of instruction in correct driving. Elsewhere I have suggested for Victoria a school of correct driving. Suitably advertised, it should bring many here to remain a week or two, and it would certainly give the city a certain amount of publicity. H. H. WILLCOX.

SHORT-DISTANCE FARES

Sir,—About twenty years ago, through your columns and in other ways, I made the suggestion to the B.C.E.R. that it adopt short-distance fares, for example:
From Yates Street to Superior Street, two cents.
From Vancouver Street to Yates Street, two cents.
From Bay Street to Yates Street, two cents, etc.

From the reasons given me for turning the suggestion down I gathered that the business wasn't worth troubling over. May I show the B.C.E.R. that, worked out at an absolute minimum, it lost approximately $20,000 in fares.

One journey only each week at two cents a journey equals $1.04 per annum, $20.80 for twenty years. Allowing a trifling number of passengers, viz., 1,000 per week, the company let slide $20,800 since I first approached it, and the cars have been running half empty all the time. Surely it is worth thinking over. H. G. HANNAN.

BERING SEA PATROL

Sir,—In reply to Admiral Nugent's letter of April 7 demanding an apology for my statement that during the Bering Sea disputes, the only time British warships left Esquimaux harbor was to aid the Americans in arresting and confiscating our own Canadian ships and in setting their crews adrift.

I refuse the apology and reaffirm the statement, and would refer him to Captain Tom Brown, of this city, captain of the late sealer Agnes MacDonald.

Between 1886 and 1889 fourteen Canadian ships were seized by the Americans and four chased out of Bering Sea, and all this time the British fleet lay in Esquimaux harbor allegedly protecting us and ignoring our appeals for aid. Amongst the ships seized were the Onward, Carolina, the Thornton, the Anna Beck, the Sayward, the Dolphin, the Grace, the Alfred Adams, the Minnie, the Pathfinder, the Juanita, the Lily, the Ada, the others I cannot remember.

On March 27, 1887, the Governor-General telegraphed the Admiral at Esquimaux to prevent, if possible the Canadian schooners from arming themselves. On August 6, 1887, The Victoria Daily Colonist contained the following: "They (the sealers) are beginning to wonder if indeed England is mistress of the seas, when such high-handed piratical acts as those perpetrated last year and again repeated this, are allowed to occur without some protection being given to British subjects."

This from The Colonist editorial of August 6, 1887: "There are several warships at Esquimaux doing nothing. By the way, what object had the Caroline in going North? We thought she went there to protect British interests. While she was cruising the waters of the northern seas our four British Columbia vessels were being unlawfully seized, their crews being unlawfully detained and an outrage inflicted on the English flag."

This from The Colonist of the same date: "Resolution moved by Hon. Robert Beaven, M.P.P., at an indignation meeting at the city of Victoria and seconded by Sam Duck, M.P.P., and endorsed by the whole meeting amongst whom were Colonel E. G. Price, M.P.P., Hon. P. H. Higgins, E. Crow-Baker, M.P.P., and many other distinguished citizens: 'We resent the insult to our flag and respectfully claim for our vessels and citizens on the high seas that protection from the British Government that has been the right and pride of even the meanest subject of the Empire, but which is now denied us.'"

They never got that protection then; you will never get it now, not when they have a first class power to go up against. If it had been Peru or Siam, yes, but the lesson of American independence was too much for Lord Salisbury. He crawled to the United States and left Canada in the lurch, as England has done ever since when our interests have conflicted with those of the United States.

Placate the United States and let Canada stew has been the British policy for over 100 years, and it is time for Canadians to know it. As far as I am concerned this correspondence is closed.

Tides at Victoria

Time of tides (Pacific standard time), at Victoria, B.C., for the month of April, 1935.

From the reasons given me for turning the suggestion down I gathered that the business wasn't worth troubling over. May I show the B.C.E.R. that, worked out at an absolute minimum, it lost approximately $20,800 in fares.

One journey only each week at two cents a journey equals $1.04 per annum, $20.80 for twenty years.

Allowing a trifling number of passengers, viz., 1,000 per week, the company let slide $20,800 since I first approached it, and the cars have been running half empty all the time. Surely it is worth thinking over.

The great distinction between electrolysis and all other treatments for the removal of superfluous hair is that it is absolutely safe and permanently destroys the hair instead of temporarily removing it from the surface, and the pain is just the ordinary stinging sensation peculiar to all electrical treatments. Earth's Atmosphere Given Important and Interesting Aspects

Astronomical Society Entertained With Interesting Programme—Importance of Cloud Study to Aviation Shown by F. Napier Denison

UNDER the general heading of "A Symposium of the Atmosphere," an unusually varied programme was given at the meeting of the Victoria centre of the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada, Wednesday evening, at the Y.W.C.A.

The subject was discussed by three speakers: Miss Jorga Eek, who told about the extent and composition of the atmosphere; Mr. Duff, of Sidney, who, in Miss Margaret Clay's absence owing to indisposition, took her subject of "Optical Phenomena"; and Miss Mira Oliphant, who dealt with cloud formations. As a meteorological expert, F. Napier Denison, who was present, was invited to say a few words at the close of the last speaker's address, and Mr. Peters supplied the programme with a brief biography of Sir Isaac Newton and a little outline of the interesting objects to be seen in the heavens at the present time.

THE ATMOSPHERE
The earth was once in the same state as Jupiter, a large volume of gas. As this gas cooled it condensed. Much of it was in solid state, and what remained was in the atmosphere or in the form of water, in the oceans. The three layers, troposphere (or immediate atmosphere), the tropopause, and the stratosphere (or isothermal region), were named, with special reference to the troposphere, which extends upwards to a distance of ten miles in the region of the equator, and up to two and a half miles over the poles. The elements composing the atmosphere were named as nitrogen (78 per cent), oxygen (21 per cent), ozone, hydrogen, helium, argon, carbon-dioxide, neon and one or two other elements found in infinitesimal quantities.

A chart indicated the limits to which airplanes, kites and balloons could travel, and the respective heights in the atmosphere where the auroral arcs, shooting stars and clouds moved.

ILLUSION OF SUNRISE
The refractive power of the earth's atmosphere was shown by Mr. Duff to have deceptive results in connection with the viewing of sunrise and moonrise, sunset and moonset, and "mirinary" with the stars. To illustrate the effect of light passing through the earth's atmosphere and the effect of this on the apparent size of objects, he made drawings showing the refraction of light passing through a prism. When the sun was at its zenith, overhead, there was no deviation or curving of the light rays, so that one saw its actual size; but when the sun was below the horizon there might be such bending of the light rays towards the earth (owing to passing through the earth's atmosphere) that one would see the sun as much as two minutes before it rose. The same phenomenon, in modified form, occurred with the moon, which could be seen when it was actually still below the horizon.

In certain branches of astronomy this was a nuisance, as it made it difficult to compute the exact position of a given object at a given time. Mr. Duff also discussed the phenomenon of the mirage, a very localized illustration of which was seen in the wet appearance of a street on a very warm day. Some theories were advanced in explanation of this. The rainbow, the lunar corona, "sun dogs," and some other phenomena of the kind, were also discussed in an interesting way with the help of slides and photographs.

CLOUD FORMS
An interesting discussion of the various cloud forms was given by Miss Oliphant who, like Miss Eek, was specially complimented by the president, Mr. Boyd Brydon. Miss Oliphant used the international classification to identify the cirrus and cirro-stratus clouds, which are found at about 3,000 meters, these including the cirro, the cirro-cumulus, and the alto-cumulus; and the alto-cumulus; the 2,000-meter elevation series, including strato-cumulus and nimbus, and the other types; cumulus-nimbus and stratus.

VANCOUVER, April 11 (CP).—Mrs. P. E. Corby, of Victoria, was chosen to represent the British Columbia Chapter, Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, at the national convention at Ottawa in May, at the concluding sessions of the Provincial organization's twenty-second annual meeting here today.

Victoria was selected as the locale for the next annual meeting and the Powell River for the semi-annual gathering.

Mrs. W. N. Martin, of Burnaby, presented final reports to the meeting today, showing that $3,266 had been spent in aiding ex-service men and their dependents. Of this sum, Vancouver contributed $1,173; Victoria, $1,098; Burnaby, $383; Chilliwack, $240; Ladner, $110; Nanaimo, $30; Sidney, $34; Kamloops, $50; Nelson, $50; Enderby, $17; Anyox, $60, and Duncan, $9.

SEA CADETS HELPED

The order contributed $846 towards the Navy League in assisting the training of Sea Cadets, Vancouver spending $639 and Victoria the balance.

Mrs. H. P. Swan, of Duncan, in presenting her report on immigration and Canadianization, stated that the component chapters of the provincial body had contributed towards welcoming new Canadians and helping them through the first difficult period in their new country.

She also gave a short account of the Prince of Wales School Farm at Cowichan, where eighty English boys and girls will be brought out shortly to be given academic and agricultural education, with a view to settling on the land.

EMPIRE STUDY WORK

Miss Beatrice Cooke, of Victoria, outlined various topics taken up by the chapters in their Empire study programmes.

Floral bouquets were presented to Mrs. A. F. Griffiths, of Victoria, presiding officer, and Mrs. Frank Stead, president of Vancouver Municipal Chapter and hostess; corsages were given to Miss Ilce Terry, of Victoria, retiring treasurer, and Miss Crease, veteran member of the Provincial Chapter, at the close of today's sessions.

National councillors chosen were: Mrs. W. H. Nelson, Sidney; Mrs. F. E. Dockerill, Trail; Mrs. L. A. Genge, Victoria; Mrs. J. Kent, Goldsmith; Powell River; Mrs. Dallas Perry, Vancouver; Mrs. R. J. Sprout, Vancouver; and Mrs. Curtis Sampson, Victoria.

NEW HEADQUARTERS

Chapter headquarters will be moved from Victoria to Vancouver for the next two years, delegates decided yesterday. Mrs. Albert F. Griffiths, first vice-president, was in the chair.

The executive report, presented by Mrs. P. E. Corby, of Victoria, corresponding secretary, listed interesting resolutions passed, including control of armaments and their manufacture; granting of a beer licence to West Vancouver Veterans' Club; better and cleaner films; nationality and status of married women; status of Provincial councillors; and procedure as regards standards carried on parades.

SOCIAL SERVICE WORK

Special mention was made by Mrs. Corby of the social service work done by the order in the Peace River district, where Christmas hampers were sent from Victoria by Mrs. Griffiths and from Vancouver by Mrs. Dallas Perry, the materials supplied in both cases by the various chapters. She felt this work, valuable though it had been, should not be permitted to overshadow the main objects of the order.

Mrs. Corby mentioned the pleasure derived from welcoming the honorary national president, the Countess of Bessborough. She described social functions given in honor of Her Excellency during the viceregal visit to Victoria and Vancouver.

Valuable work done by various chapters was described in the report on education prepared by Miss A. B. Cooke, of Victoria, and read by Mrs. Corby. During the past year, she said, fourteen libraries have been purchased by various chapters for rural schools. Eight chapters have collected libraries for other schools, the books varying in number from thirty to 550.

War memorial pictures have been sent to many parts of the province, and more than 2,000 I.O.D.E. calendars have been sold or given to isolated families. Assistance in postage stamps and textbooks had been provided for several children dependent on postal schooling, and numbers of magazines had been distributed to the needy.

Miss Cooke's report on the war memorial announced the usual donation of two $1,200 bursaries at the University of British Columbia. During the history of the memorial, she said, twenty-four provincial university bursaries, seven scholarships of $1,400 and five scholarships of $1,600 had been given with an additional $750 for traveling expenses.

The Young Women's Missionary Society of First United Church (Golden Link Auxiliary) met in the ladies' parlor of the church on Wednesday evening, with an attendance of thirty-three members and friends, with Miss Jean Polson, the president, in the chair. An impressive worship service, provided by the Women's Missionary Society, Toronto, was conducted by Mrs. William Hudson and Miss Margery Brown, after which the Spring thankoffering was received, which proved very gratifying. Mrs. William Naimith, in a thoughtful talk on fellowship, stressed the need to-day for understanding sympathy and friendliness toward the numerous types and classes of people contacted daily. Mrs. Frank Calvert presented Miss Pearl More with a life membership, on behalf of the auxiliary. A beautiful vocal solo was contributed by Mrs. George Norris, accompanied at the organ by Miss Olive Campbell. Final arrangements were made for the Spring tea to be held on Saturday at the home of Mrs. Frank Calvert, 1900 Belmont Avenue. Miss Pearl More brought an interesting report from the Presbyterian, dealing with the temperance question. Miss May Simpson, who last month presented a delightful commentary of her experience while on a world tour last year, completed the story of her travels. She was thanked, on behalf of the members, by Miss Mitchell, who also included the hostesses, members of Miss Lohian's circle. This group later served refreshments.

There were ten tables in play at the fortnightly card party of the Strawberry Vale Athletic Club which was held in the Colquitz Hall, and prizes were won by the following: First lady, Mrs. Harper; first gentleman, Mr. T. Neiligan; second lady, Mrs. T. Scaife; second gentleman, Mr. T. Francis. Refreshments were served at the close of the game, when the hostesses were members of the Ladies' Auxiliary.

Shawnigan Lake Chapel Is Scene of Ceremony

Miss Norma Porter and Mr. Alfred Hood Married Yesterday Afternoon—Reception at Stratheona Lodge School—Couple Will Live in Victoria

The chapel of Shawnigan Lake School was the scene of a very pretty wedding yesterday afternoon. Rev. H. P. S. Luttrell, pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Victoria, officiating, when Norma Belle, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Porter, of "Belleholme," Brookleigh Road, Elk Lake, became the bride of Mr. Alfred Ogilvie Hood, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Hood, of Simcoe Street, Victoria.

The chapel had been beautifully arranged with flowers and Spring greenery, and during the service the boys' choir sang the hymns and the special numbers during the signing of the register.

THE BRIDE

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attractively gowned in ivory satin, a peacock train flaring from the waistline at the back and the long sleeves of the bodice ended in points over the wrists. A short jacket with high cowl neckline in front buttoned up the back and ending in a tie, and with cape sleeves, gave a modish touch to the bridal attire. An embroidered veil of silk net was attached to the points of a pearl tiara, and fell in filmy folds over the long train. She carried a sheaf of Calla lilies.

The bride's only attendant was Miss Eileen Tomlin, of Victoria, wearing a frock of pale pink flowered taffeta with a flared skirt. Her large picture hat matched her frock, and she carried pink carnations and mauve sweet peas.

Mr. Ted Colgate was best man, and the ushers were Mr. Roderick Hood, brother of the groom, and Mr. Gilbert Fraser, the groom's cousin.

SCHOOL ASSOCIATIONS

As the bride was the first one of the head girls of Stratheona Lodge School for Girls, Shawnigan Lake, to be married, the reception was held at the school at the invitation of Miss Gilda, headmistress. Assisting Miss Gilda in receiving the guests were Mrs. Porter and Mrs. Hood. For the occasion, Miss Gilda wore a smart lace gown, Mrs. Porter wore a gown of wine-colored lace, with large straw hat in sand shade, and Mrs. Hood, a gown of royal blue velvet with hat to match. Violets composed the corsage bouquet worn by Miss Gilda, pink roses and sweet peas by Mrs. Hood, and lilies and blue iris by Mrs. Porter.

The guests were welcomed on the veranda, and after offering their felicitations to the bride and groom passed in to the lounge and drawing-room, where refreshments were served from tables gay with daffodils. A handsome three-tier wedding cake centred one of the tables. The toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. C. W. Lonsdale, headmaster of Shawnigan Lake School.

Presiding at the urns were Mrs. W. Moore, of Shawnigan Lake; Mrs. S. Colgate, Mrs. E. Tomlin and Mrs. Gilbert Fraser, all of Victoria. Assisting in serving were a number of old girls of Stratheona Lodge School for Girls, including Miss Peggy Roaf and Miss Grace Anne Cromie, of Vancouver; the Misses Frances and Audrey Tremayne, of William Head; Mrs. Keith Dorman and the Misses Frances Hammersley, Elizabeth Edwards, Peggy Hamilton, Kitty Lake, Lois Pendray, Doreen McGregor, all of Victoria, and others.

MAINLAND HONEYMOON

The bride and groom left later by motor for Nanaimo, crossing from there to the Mainland, where the honeymoon will be spent. For traveling, the bride wore a black and white wool tunic dress, with white collar, a grey lapin fur coat and a smart black straw turban trimmed with rose veil of stiffened lace. Just as she was leaving the school she was presented with a corsage bouquet of violets, the school flower, from the girls of Stratheona Lodge School. On their return to Victoria, they will make their home at the corner of Linden Avenue and Faithful Street.

Among visitors from the Mainland at the wedding were Mrs. C. Porter, of Vancouver, aunt of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Dunford and Mr. W. Dunford, of Vancouver, and from up the Island, Mrs. T. Ware, of Errington, aunt of the bride.

Among the many handsome wedding gifts received were a chest of silver in the King Cup design from the staff of the Provincial Public Works Department, of which the groom is a member of the accounting staff; a framed etching from the Old Girls of Stratheona Lodge School for Girls, where the bride was educated; an electric clock from the Arion Club, and a silver cigarette box from the members of the officers' mess of the 5th Regiment.

Institute Proves to Be Great Boon to Seamen

Busy Year Recorded by President in Report Presented at Annual Meeting—Mrs. W. E. Sayer Re-Elected Head of Home

With increased shipping, heavy gales and wrecks, the Victoria Seamen's Institute had a busy year and proved a haven for wrecked seamen, reported Mrs. W. E. Sayer, in presenting a resume of the institute's activities for the past year, at the annual meeting held yesterday.

Large donations were made by the ships of the C.P.R. and grants from the Dominion Government, the British Sailors' Society, London, and the city of Victoria towards taxes have and are enabling the institute to complete the many repairs. Money has been raised by the members through the bridge parties inaugurated by Mrs. J. W. Troup and the combined bridge tea and birthday party was an outstanding success. Mrs. D. R. Ker and her committee were commended by Mrs. Sayer for their work during the year.

Open house was kept on Christmas and New Year's Day, and over 100 men attended. Of this number, half were from the three disabled freighters in port at that time. The following I.O.E. chapters gave donations for the party: Sir James and Lady Douglas Chapter, Charles Arthur Chapman Chapter (Trail), scurves and sweaters, and the Navy League Chapter, annual donation of $25, also thirty-five calendars for the lighthouse.

Relief work has been heavy this year and, in addition to Christmas coal and fruit, supplies also were sent out during the cold weather, in the new year, to several cases, and financial help was given. Mrs. Finmore, as visitor to St. Joseph's Hospital, received praise, the work having been arduous, as the injured and wrecked seamen were all sent there. At Christmas time, woolens, tobacco and fruit were sent to the patients, also supplies were sent to the homes of sick seamen. Madame Claudet, visitor for Jubilee Hospital, received thanks, as also did Miss de Trafford, wool convener, and her knitters for their splendid work. The library is a great asset to the institute, and appreciation was expressed to The Colonist and The Times for daily papers and publicity and to friends for sending magazines.

Men signing the register during the year included 3,401; apprentices, 445; attendance at twenty-eight socials, 664; ships visiting, 247; letters posted, 617; beds paid for, ninety-seven; free beds, fifty-seven; free meals, seventy-eight; bundles of letters to ships, 457; sweaters, twenty-four; socks, thirty-eight pairs; scarves, fourteen. Fifteen pairs of socks and fifteen sweaters were sent to the Canadian Legion to be included in the Christmas hamper.

During her report, Mrs. Sayer read a portion of a letter sent to London by a young sailor who was here on the Uffington Court. The extract read: "I want to express my thanks to the Sailors' Home at Victoria, B.C. I never knew such happiness until I went there." Mrs. Sayer, in concluding her report, said: "This and other letters make us think our work worth while."

OFFICERS ELECTED
Mrs. J. W. Troup was re-elected honorary president, and Mrs. W. E. Sayer as president. Mrs. Vernon Thomson was chosen first vice-president; Mrs. D. R. Ker, second vice-president; Mrs. H. D. Day, secretary; Madame Claudet, treasurer; Miss de Trafford, wool convener; Mrs. Finmore and Madame Claudet, hospital visitors, and Mrs. Sayer and Madame Claudet, relief conveners.

Following the business, Mrs. Sayer and Madame Claudet served tea to the members.

greatly benefit the hair. To be properly brushed, the hair should first be brushed upward and outward all along the hair line, as it is here that most dust and grime tend to accumulate. Then the hair should be separated into small strands, and each strand brushed individually. After this, the hair over the entire head should be brushed briskly with an upward and outward stroke.

The sort of brush that is used for brushing treatments is really an important factor, for none but the right sort should ever be employed. The bristles should not be too sharp or stiff, for if they are, they may scratch and irritate the scalp. Again, however, the bristles should not be too soft, or else they may prove totally ineffective, and fail to benefit the hair and scalp. The best type of hairbrush is the kind with long, flexible, blunt-tipped bristles. Procure such a brush, if you value your locks; use it properly, and give your hair treatments with it each and every day. If you do this, you'll find that in time it will transform your hair into a glossy, lustrous crowning glory.

Gladys Glad On Beauty

That lovely Viennese star, Tala Birelli, who speaks German, Polish, French and English with equal ease, has very beautiful hair. Tala is justly proud of her honey-gold tresses, and she never fails to give them brushing treatments every day, whether she's on location or not. Tala believes that it is this constant brushing that gives her hair its gleaming, polished appearance.

I, personally, believe, like Tala, that every woman should give her hair a good, brisk brush each day, wave or no wave, for a brush, when properly used, is one of the greatest of hair beautifiers. It removes all dirt, foreign particles and bits of dried cuticle from the hair and scalp. It stimulates the circulation in the scalp, thus bringing nourishment to the hair follicles. It distributes the natural oil evenly over the head, and helps to keep the oil glands normal in their functioning. It also polishes the hair, making it glossy and lustrous.

When administering brushing treatments, the hair should never be brushed flat over the scalp. This method is incorrect, and does not.

Jane Dixon Says:

HAVE YOU MET YOUR DREAM PARTNER? WATCH OUT—SOMETIMES THEY'RE NIGHTMARES

You would think that "the girl of my dreams" and "my dream man" are almost as rare as orchids in Iceland, wouldn't you?

They're no such things. Not a day passed but that a couple of "dreams" walk across my desk. The trouble with these dreams is that none of them are perfect.

"I've met the girl of my dreams, but—"

"He's my dream man, but—"

Remarkable how many dreams skip along on clay feet, and how many believers in dreams wonder if, after all, they are liable to wake up and find they've been the victim of a nightmare.

Dear Jane Dixon: The man I love is the man I've always dreamed I'd find. He is the best-looking man in our town, the best dancer, drives the spiffiest car. He's very successful in his business, too, considering he is only twenty-five, and everyone predicts great things for him.

Now, Miss Dixon, he vows by all the great gods and little fishes that he loves me, but how can I be sure when he just can't resist flirting with every new face that comes along? Let a new girl come to town, and he does everything he can to make her fall for him. He says he only does it for fun. Maybe it's fun for him, but it's far from funny to me.

He's so ideal in every other respect, do you think he'll get over his foolishness and not go on hurting the girl he vows he loves?—Gullible.

Answer: I judge from the way you signed your letter, Gullible, you have grave doubts that the young man will reform.

Not knowing him, I cannot tell you whether he would be that most infuriating of all husbands, a male flirt, or whether he is merely young and foolish, and perhaps slightly overcome with his own importance.

You can very easily find out for yourself which of these two men he is, by warning him that he must choose between the new girls and you. And the first time he goes chasing off after a new face, cross him off your list until he comes to you with contrition in his heart and regret on his lips, and pledges you a New Deal.

If, after giving you his word of honor he will stop his foolishness, he breaks that word, then he is the male flirt, and you had better tear his name off your list and throw it away, for he is not the man of your dreams, but a living nightmare.

GIRL OF HIS DREAMS WON'T WRITE

Dear Miss Dixon: Here is my problem. Will you help me out, please?

A year ago last March I met my dream girl. I have never cared much for girls, but now I have met my fate. She is a nurse. When I am with her we are both delighted to be together, but we don't see each other so often because I am unemployed and she lives in a close-by city.

The trouble is that she will not write to me as I want her to do, but just waits for me to come to see her. Should I be contented with this, or should I insist that she write me often?

She seems to like me a lot, but she won't tell me how much. She wants me to do all the telling. I don't want to lose my dream—L. F.

Answer: I don't quite see how you can force a dream to put itself into writing, do you?

Perhaps the girl dislikes to write letters. Then, too, if she is a nurse, she is undoubtedly busy with her work and is too tired in her hours to write all the messages you would like.

If she shows pleasure in your company she must care for you, and you will have to be content with that knowledge until she is ready to tell you how much she cares.

Jane Dixon: When I married I was dreaming and I saw my ideal wife, but I woke up with a dull thud when my dream disappeared with my best friend and left me to care for our two young children. I wish you and all the other writers would sign off on that dream stuff. It makes me see red.—Wake-up Husband.

DUNCAN FIXES TAXATION RATE

No Change From Last Year Except for Half-Mill Reduction

DUNCAN, April 11.—At a meeting of the Duncan City Council the tax rate for 1935 was fixed as follows: General rate, 16 mills; school rate, 14 mills; debt rate, 8 mills; these being on land values only. In addition there will be a tax of 7 mills on 75 per cent of the assessed values of improvements. These rates are the same as those for 1934, with the exception of the debt rate, which has been reduced by half a mill.

The resignation of L. Ashby as assistant clerk and collector was received and accepted. L. A. Helen was appointed to fill the vacancy.

The Mayor and Aldermen Corbishley were appointed a committee to arrange for a suitable celebration of the King's Jubilee.

Nanaimo-Duncan Utilities submitted a new schedule of power rates. Their proposal was laid on the table for further consideration.

BRITISH RULE IN INDIA EXTOLLED

Mrs. McKay Gives Interesting Address to Qualicum Beach Canadian Club

QUALICUM BEACH, April 11.—The regular monthly meeting of the Qualicum District Canadian Club was held on Wednesday in the Community Hall, when Mrs. McKay spoke on "India, Yesterday and Today." The speaker, who has lived in India for many years, gave a resume of its history from the earliest invasions of the Aryan race up to the time of the British. Regarding the religious systems of India, she stated that there were two extremes of teaching, a deep philosophy on the one hand, and the corrupt popular beliefs on the other, the result of centuries of perversion by the Brahmins.

In her references to the principles of reincarnation and karma, which forms the basis of the caste system, she showed a close knowledge of the latter, quoting many examples of the effect of the popular beliefs upon the social and religious outlook of the country.

Poverty in India was not due to exploitation by alien rulers, but rather to causes inherent in the Indian social system itself. The speaker paid a glowing tribute to British rule in India, and gave numerous instances of its advantages to the country.

OSCAR LIND PASSES AT CAMPBELL RIVER

Dahl, of Elk Bay, is a boyhood friend of his. The funeral service was held on Sunday by Rev. Freeman. The deceased was buried in the local cemetery. The pallbearers were Charles Kent, A. Adolphson, Christian Fislund, Brewer Stredman, Charles Erickson and Ted Lindley.

Fire Destroys Qualicum Home

QUALICUM BEACH, April 11.—The home of Mrs. Reist, situated near the Hamilton Swamp, caught fire on Wednesday morning and in a short time was burned to the ground. Very few of the household effects were saved. Mr. Wells, who happened to be near at the time, helped until the fire became too dangerous.

WILL PAINT UP AT LADYSMITH

Start Next Monday to Re-decorate—Council Decides To Advertise

LADYSMITH, April 11.—The clean-up and paint-up period for Ladysmith was set as from April 22 to 30, at last evening's meeting of the City Council.

At the direction of the Department of Finance, Victoria, a new by-law covering loans for relief employment within the city, was advanced three stages, and a memorandum of the agreement in respect of advances by the Department was read. As the city is required to meet interest on the loan from current taxation, and the millage is already set, Mayor Walkem intimated that some reshuffling of the items in the civic budget might be necessary.

RADIO TROUBLES
Complaints from individuals of radio interference have been fairly continuous here for a long period. The city clerk reported he had taken the matter up with the Nanaimo-Duncan Utilities. A slight transformer leakage had been fixed, and possible sources of interference checked up, and the reception was reported definitely improved.

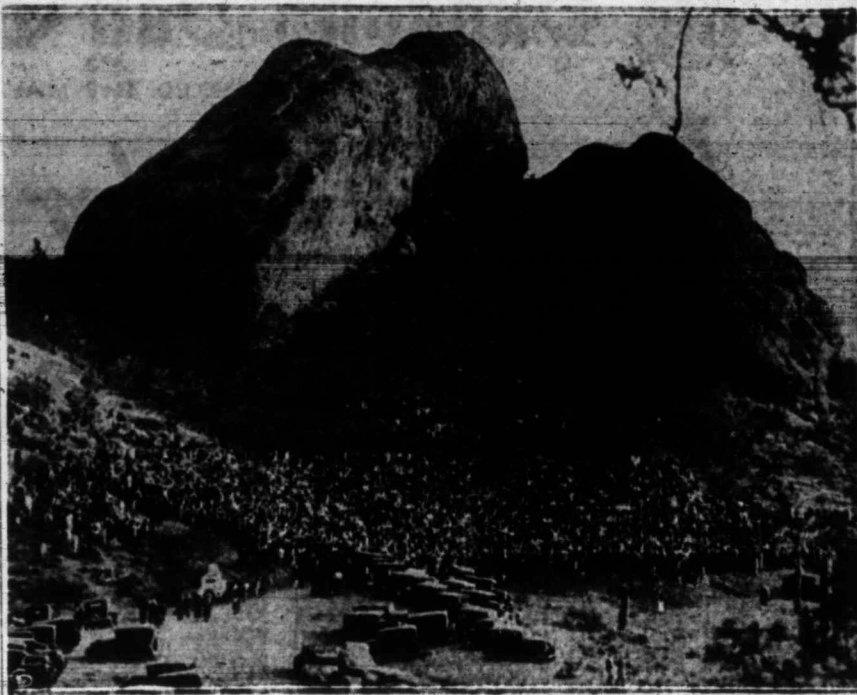

A delegation of four from the Ladysmith Unemployed Association waited upon the Council, and R. Trotter, principal spokesman for the delegation, laid the case before the Council. He asked that the city consider the possibility of those on unemployment relief, with city taxes in arrears, being allowed to have their homes from sequestration by working off their obligation to the city. W. Nankiville, L. Cloke and H. Wallace made similar pleas. Mayor Walkem and the aldermen expressed their sympathy with the situation.

BOUND BY ACT
The Mayor remarked no matter how deep the Council's concern and desire to help, they could only move officially within the limits prescribed by the Municipal Act and with due cognizance of the general stringencies in the city. The delegation departed with mutual expressions of good-will.

T. Collinge for the Board of Trade asked if the city would care to take the quarter-page space available in the brochure on Vancouver Island being sponsored by the Nanaimo Board of Trade. Business men of Ladysmith had already taken the other quarter-page.

ATTRACTIVE FEATURES
He pointed out that this locality had several unique and attractive features which should be given proper publicity. Ladysmith was the city on the 49th parallel, a note that might attract the interest of tourists as they passed through the Island. The record of the Biological Station at Departure Bay showed that the water in the vicinity of Ladysmith was several degrees

Desert Amphitheatre for Services

Thousands of Arizonans bedecked in Easter finery will motor through the darkness of the desert early on the morning of April 21 to a huge natural desert amphitheatre in Papago Park near Phoenix, where at sunrise impressive Easter services will be held. Photo shows the thousands who flocked to the cactus-studded, seat-terraced hillside for Easter sunrise services last year.

warmer than that anywhere north of San Francisco, and this in conjunction with the wonderful beaches, Shell Beach and Silver Strand, should make an appeal to those who preferred fine beaches and comfortable water.

Ten thousand copies of the brochure were to be distributed at strategic points. The city will take the space and a picture of Shell Beach will be included with a brief statement of Ladysmith's charms.

PLANS ARE MADE FOR CELEBRATION

Ladysmith Arranges Ambitious Programme to Celebrate Anniversary of the King's Coronation

LADYSMITH, April 11.—A fairly ambitious programme to celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of the coronation was arranged at the last meeting of the committee. A May Queen, to be called Miss Ladysmith, will be chosen from four candidates from the local schools, and the events on May 6 will open early in the afternoon with the crowning of the May Queen.

Mayor Walkem will perform the honors at the children's fairy dress ball. Miss Ladysmith and her attendants will lead the dress parade, and the other items of the opening exhibitions of dancing by trained pupils.

Softball games and a horseshoe pitching contest will feature the evening sports events, and a bonfire and fireworks display will be staged in Market Square. The Ladysmith-South Wellington Band will render Old Country folk and country dance music in the square following the pyrotechnics.

A big dance in the Agricultural Hall will round off the day's celebration.

DISCUSS ASPECTS OF LIBRARY PLAN

LADYSMITH, April 11.—Twenty local organizations were represented at the meeting convened in the Council Chamber at the instance of the library committee to discuss aspects of the regional public library plan for Vancouver Island.

Alderman W. Cullum represented the council in the absence of Mayor Walkem. Four of the library committee spoke briefly on the various angles of the plan as it affected Ladysmith. Mr. Grantham discussed the advantages and aims of the plan; E. Akenhead the subject of costs to the community; R. S. Wood dealt with general and local organization, and Miss B. Tranfield pointed out the value of the sectional and group literature demonstrations planned by the Carnegie demonstration under Dr. Helen G. Stewart.

The Ladysmith Library Board has plans in hand to launch an initial demonstration in the library quarters, representative of a wider and more modernized selection of works covering topics included in the public library circulation locally.

"TALKIES" SHOWN AT CAMPBELL RIVER

CAMPBELL RIVER, April 11.—British Columbia "talkies" were shown at the Lileana Pavilion on Saturday. The feature picture was "The Rogue of the Rio Grande." The board of trade loaned its film, which had been donated to it by P. Ashton, of Vancouver. This showed the fishing at Campbell River and catching cohoes on the fly.

"Do you wish to take a sunbath?" "Yes, but not above twenty-eight degrees."—La Yon, Madrid.

TOURISTS ARE BOARD'S TOPIC

Ladysmith Anxious for Representation in Advertising of Island's Charms

LADYSMITH, April 11.—Discussion at the regular Board of Trade meeting last evening centred on tourist and kindred topics. N. M. Poulkes, president of the board, reported on the recent conference between the City Council, directors of Arcady Limited and the Board of Trade.

He felt that little could be done with any project that included the Arcady property, so the public development was concerned. The objections of the owners, and the attitude of the Council at the conference, convinced him there were difficult obstacles to any hope of acquiring the property.

A sixteen-page booklet, setting forth the charms of Vancouver Island, is being sponsored by the Nanaimo Board of Trade, and it was thought that perhaps Ladysmith might be interested in some official advertising.

The Ladysmith Board will suggest to the Council that a quarter-page of space might be reserved to present Ladysmith's official point of view in the booklet. A particularly intriguing picture of Shell Beach is available, and efforts will be made to have the picture included in the booklet.

That Body of Yours

(By James W. Barton, M.D.)

THE FIRST THREE MONTHS OF LIFE MOST IMPORTANT FOR GROWTH AND DEVELOPMENT

We are naturally proud of the fact that the life span of man has been doubled within the past century. What we fail to remember is that the man of middle-age is not likely to live any longer than did the man of middle-age one hundred years ago.

As you know, the life span has been lengthened principally because more children are saved at childbirth and during the first year of life.

However, a very interesting discovery has been made recently that is of great importance to parents and those in charge of child welfare.

Dr. Harry Bakwin, Ruth M. Bakwin and Lillian Milgram, in American Diseases of Children, describe some studies made to find out the relationship between retarded or slow growth and the so-called body build in young children.

As you know, the results of experiments in feeding young animals has been known for many years; leaving out certain articles of food and adding others has made great differences in their growth and development.

In their experiments with infants these research workers made use of three large groups of infants. One group, from a well baby clinic, served as a control; the second and third groups were from poverty stricken homes, the second, however, being under study at the clinic, were under more favorable food conditions. In addition to body weight and length, the width of the face and the girth of the chest and abdomen were measured.

At the end of the first year the first and second groups which were under supervision showed little difference either in body weight or in the rate of gain, whereas the third group (not supervised) showed a marked delay in gain in weight. For the first three weeks there was little, if any, difference between the three groups in their length or height. At the end of the year, however, the supervised groups were superior to the group that was not supervised, in that their face, chest and body was bigger in proportion to their height than in the unsupervised group.

The delay in growth in the unsupervised group took place only

When Lee Sing, a Chinese vendor of lottery tickets, started out on a mission from door to door in the business section of the city, offering his tickets for sale, he provided a wonderful avenue for the detection of violators of the statute. Lee was a good salesman. A number of the buyers of tickets from him on April 2 disclosed to the police magistrate yesterday that they bought only to get rid of the vendor. In other instances the Chinese vendor faced the buyer with the argument that as he bought goods from the prospective purchaser the latter should reciprocate and deal with him. He was a firm believer in reciprocal trade.

THIRTY ARE FINED
About thirty buyers were fined $2 each on pleading guilty to having purchased tickets from Lee Sing.

Only one has pleaded guilty to the charge and will have his case disposed of today.

I do this because I know that Nestlé's makes them definitely better, smoother, richer. As a matter of fact, I use Nestlé's Evaporated Milk a great deal not only in making cakes but also for many other things such as soups, sauces, cream dishes, puddings, frozen desserts and so forth."

Let Nestlé's help you in the preparation of the many above-mentioned types of dishes. It will give them added flavour, greater smoothness, more richness.

PROGRESS OF SHIPS GIVEN

Capt. R. W. McMurray Recalls Romantic Days of Old Sailing Vessels

The romance and development of marine transportation, given in that inimitable style possible only to one who has served before the mast, was outlined yesterday at the Rotary Club luncheon aboard the Ss. Princess Joan by Captain R. W. McMurray, manager of the British Columbia Coast Steamship Service.

Under the prosaic title of "Evolution of Transportation by Water," Captain McMurray painted word pictures of the glory of the seas that carried his audience into a realm of adventure and romance.

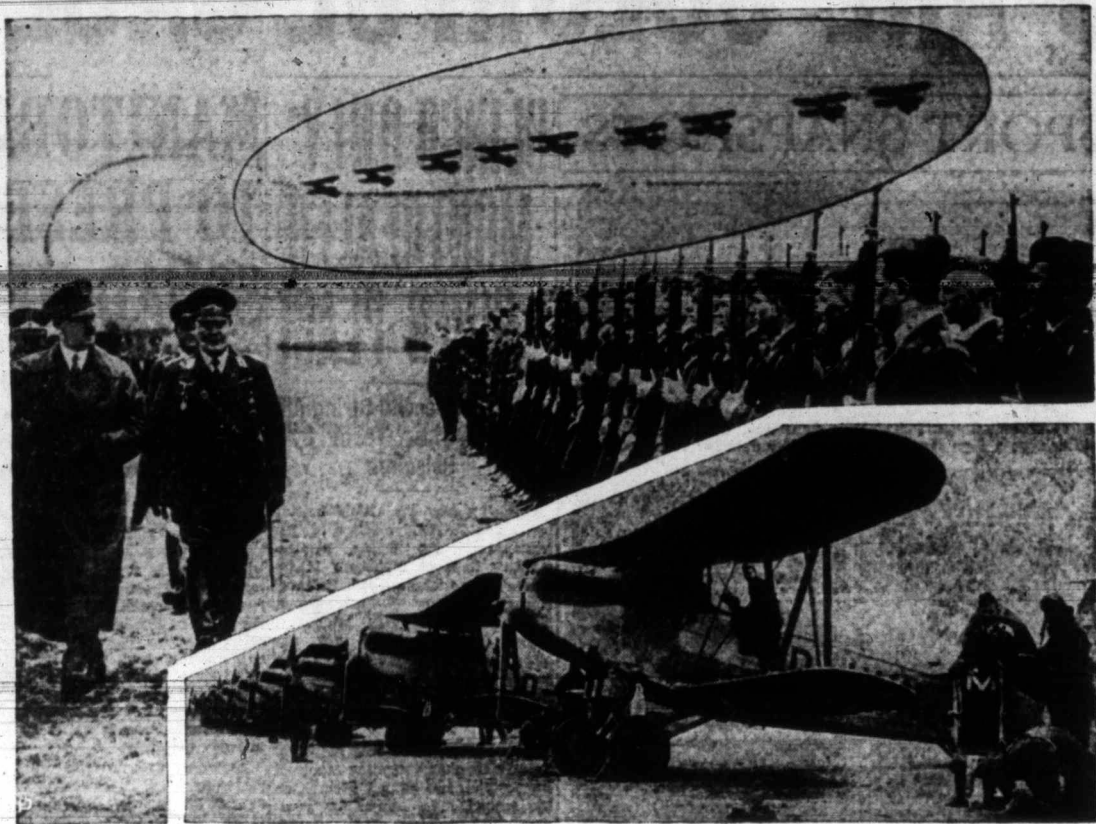

He first outlined the early beginning of water transportation, starting with the man astride a log, the development to dugouts, then planked ships of the rowing type, and thence to the sailing ships, which reached their highest state of perfection during the latter half of the last century.

BUILT TO ENDURE

The staunchness of sailing ships in those days was exemplified by the warship Victory, Captain McMurray stated. This ship, which was sixty years old at the battle of Trafalgar, is still in existence. She was built of oak and built to endure. The first iron ship was built on the Clyde in 1819. Later, steel replaced iron, the first steel ship being built in 1880. The California gold rush of 1849 stimulated the building of fast sailing ships, and of the fleet that operated between New York and San Francisco, the Flying Cloud was probably one of the most notable, the speaker said. On three different occasions this vessel made the trip around Cape Horn in eighty-nine days.

With the discovery of gold in Australia, a large fleet of fast sailing ships was operated between England and the southern continent. The

Adolf Hitler Reviews New German Air Fleet

Adolf Hitler (left), Dictator of Germany, accompanied by Minister of Air, General Hermann Goering, reviewing the pilots of the Richthofen Squadron, a so-called "sportsmen-pilot" organization named after Germany's famous war-time ace. It was the first time Hitler had visited the group which, it now appears, forms the nucleus for Germany's great air fleet which, in time of possible war, looms as mighty as Britain's air fleet. These are first photos of Germany's new air force taken at Döberitz. Grounded squadron and formation flight are shown.

fastest day's run made by any ships was on this route. The Lightning, which under full sail carried 13,000 square feet of canvas, made 436 nautical miles in one day, Captain McMurray stated. This was equivalent to an average of eighteen knots.

The speaker described passenger travel in the sailing ship days. Some of the regulations imposed on passengers were quite amusing when compared in the light of modern transportation.

Construction of the Suez Canal in 1869 marked the decadence of sailing ships. Being navigable only to steamships, the Canal struck a fatal blow at the fleet of famous tea clipper ships, such as the Cutty Sark, Ariel and other famous sailing ships.

CANADIAN STEAMER

To Canada belonged the honor of constructing the first ship to be navigated across the Atlantic solely by steam engine. This ship, the Royal William, was capable of eighteen knots, the speaker pointed out.

With the advent of steamers, the speaker said he abandoned the sea to serve aboard steamship. This allusion provoked considerable mirth among those present, who up to this point, had been carried away with the thrill and glory of sailing under full sail.

Touching upon his own company, the speaker pointed out the importance of the British Columbia Steamship service to Victoria. The payroll here last year was $199,837. Stores to the value of $218,857 had been purchased in Victoria. Some conception of the progress made by the company in the past ten years was given. In 1924, Captain McMurray said, the fleet was 34,637 gross tons. In 1934, it totaled 59,572 tons, or an increase of 70 per cent.

SEVEN BADLY HURT WHEN BOAT EXPLODES

SAN PEDRO, Cal., April 11 (AP).—Seven men were injured, three critically, when the forty-foot fishing boat, Liberty, exploded and sank yesterday at her anchorage at the Southern Pacific slip in the main channel of the harbor here.

"Now, waiter," he said, "bring me coffee, will you, and while you're away you might send me a postcard now and then."

Soccer Chatter

By A.F.A.N.

Schoolboy and juvenile football have come to the fore these last few days. Saanich have again won the Fragments Cup, Victoria High keep the Thompson Cup, Oak Bay, Saanich, and two Vic. High teams are still in the running in the new knock-out competition sponsored by the local committee of the commission.

For some unaccountable reason, the Victoria schools, with their thousands of boys, could not field a team for the Fragments Cup this year, whereas Oak Bay, with its few hundreds, and even Esquimalt, with its few dozens, had a shot at it. But there is no doubt that the series was spoiled by the defection of the city, and it is not by any means good for the boys that they should be robbed of their chance as they were. Who was responsible?

Interest in the Thompson Cup series was killed some years ago because it seemed hopeless for any school to try to take it away from Victoria High, and it seems as though the same conditions may arise with the Fragments Cup and Saanich. Oak Bay, of course, will never regain possession of the trophy until they make up their mind which game they want to play, rugby or soccer. They have had no organized soccer since Christmas.

In the juvenile games, our boys were no match for the Up-Islanders. Hills Corner lost to Nanaimo, and South Wellington disposed of the Wests Cubs. Two outstanding players in these games were White, on the right wing for South Wellington, who never did a wrong thing, and Tantrum, of Nanaimo, young brother of the senior player, who is always so dangerous.

Esquimalt would rather not be reminded of what happened last Saturday. They had the last chance of the season to distinguish themselves. They started off well with a two-goal lead. Wests seemed as though they would never score, and everybody thought that the Dockers would have the chance to measure their strength with Nanaimo. Then they wilted, they changed their line-up here, there and everywhere. John and Joe Watt changed places. Joe changed with Sweeney, McBay changed with Joe, and so on. But the Wests were scoring goals, and poor old Esquimalt were down and out.

It was quite a feat on the part of the Wests to fight back as they did and they thoroughly deserve their win. Restall was their hero; Reside, Barnes, Bell and Lambie all did well. Terry Peers was allowed out of the hospital with his torn knee for the afternoon, and went back quite happy. Here's hoping he will

Piles Go Quick

Under Dr. Leonhardt's Internal Method

Large numbers of sufferers from itching, bleeding or protruding piles have learned that quick and lasting relief can be accomplished with an internal medicine, when selves do not help and wish to escape operation. Bad circulation of the blood in the lower bowel causes piles. The veins are flabby, the bowel walls weak—the parts inflame. To cure Piles an internal medicine should be used to stimulate the circulation and help to heal the affected parts. Dr. Leonhardt was one of the first to discover a real internal Pile remedy. He called his prescription HEM-ROID, and prescribed it for large numbers of patients with a fine record of success and then decided every Pile sufferer should be able to get HEM-ROID tablets from their own druggist, with money-back if not joyfully satisfied with the help one bottle gives.

So isn't it wise when other ways fail to go to MacFarlane and Vancouver Drug Stores who say, "No matter what kind of Piles you have, one bottle of HEM-ROID tablets must show you the safe, clean way to get rid of your Pile misery or money-back." (Adv.)

be just as well pleased next Saturday afternoon.

Another angle to the question of one big entry in the Dominion series was freely discussed on the sidelines. If more than one entry is sent from here—with no chance whatever of success, it is rumored that DeCosta, Scotty Stewart, Bell and about nine or ten others of our local stars will sign up for Nanaimo, for Royals, for Rangers, or for any other team that might possibly make a trip East. And why not?

It's about time that pressure was brought to bear on the one club that is holding up the scheme. It is quite possible that Nanaimo will show us on Saturday how much chance one of our local teams has in outside competition. It would be a sin to let our star players go to other clubs, and the fact that we have never made any showing in their competition may have influenced the D.F.A. in their decision to ignore Victoria when scheduling the Scots' tour of Canada.

Sunday football is growing so popular on the Island that the age-old discussion is being revived in all its former vigor. The governing bodies still frown upon it, players are clamoring for it, several local governments are allowing it, clubs seem to like it, and it seems that it will not be long before it takes its place in line with golf and tennis, which are at present the leading Sunday games.

One hundred and thirty thousand ball-crazed fans yelled themselves hoarse at Glasgow when the Scots whipped the Sassanach, and they paid their good siller for the privilege. And yet, when it comes to playing a game in British Columbia the Scots are to choose Vancouver with its record of meagre attendances in preference to Victoria! Full proof that the D.F.A., and not the S.F.A. are to blame.

Answer to an inquirer in the crowd at last Saturday's game. When the referee has blown for hands or foul, the offence having been committed in the penalty area, he has no option, he must award a penalty kick. But he does not blow for hands unless it is a deliberate offence, accidental hands is not an offence within the meaning of the act. The referee's decision is final.

Answer to another inquirer. Our players leave the park covered in mire and sweat, wearing their football boots under their civies, because the showers are not in yet, and until they reach their homes in Saanich, Esquimalt, and other suburbs, they cannot get a wash. Just too bad isn't it?

Local soccer is practically at an end. Now let's get together and show the world what a real Victoria team can do. The Rangers and the Royals will have to find out about the United team, and it is a sure bet that these two games will be but two more arguments for only one entry in the big competition for the Summer season.

Veteran of Two Wars Organizes Air Service and Flying School in Queensland

BRISBANE.—From an invalid's chair, Major E. G. Clerk, a veteran of two wars, will organize a new air service, and a flying school in Queensland. Major Clerk, who arrived recently from England, was accompanied by three pilots and a ground engineer. Three airplanes were shipped with them, while a fourth machine—the Fairey III, in which Flight-Lieutenant Hill and Flying-Officer Davies flew from England in the Centenary Air Race—was flown to Brisbane to join the rest of the fleet.

In addition to conducting a flying school and a "joy flight" service, Major Clerk intends to open up new routes and to tender for aerial survey work. Major Clerk was in Western Australia, in the early '80s, having come from New Zealand, and in the Boer War he was a member of the Queensland Imperial Bushmen's Contingent.

Although badly wounded in the South African campaign, he served in the Great War. Seven years ago, his injuries prevented him from participating in sport, so he turned his attention to aviation. In the past two years, however, he has been unable to do any flying himself.

Song Team Has Great Task Ahead

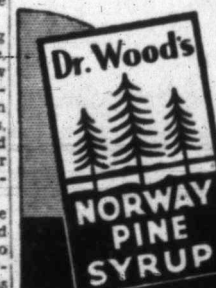

HOLLYWOOD.—Amateur song writers with a hankering for a job in Hollywood motion picture studios should consider the predicament of Mack Gordon and Harry Revel. Writers of some of the nation's most popular song hits, the noted team have been given their orders for songs for two more Paramount films. They already are hard at it on four numbers for George Raft, Ben Bernie and Grave Bradley in "Stolen Harmony" and four more on "Love in Bloom."

That makes eight songs, while the instructions for "Two on a Tower" and "Playing Around" specifically state "six songs for each film." You may take Gordon's word for it, "an assignment for twenty songs isn't music to me."

"I guess I'll make a lawyer of Josh," said Farmer Cornsoul. "But your wife wants him to be a physician."

"Yes. He's got to be a professional man and we'd want to show our confidence in him. And I think it would be a heap safer to take Josh's law than his medicine."

WINNIPEG TOILERS ARE COLORFUL CAGE TEAM

Sudbury Wolves Win Second Fixture of Junior Ice Series

Flash Dazzling Form in Turning Back Winnipeg Monarchs in Second Game of Dominion Play-Off—Final Tussle Tomorrow

WINNIPEG, April 11 (CP).—A quick-thinking, puck-following pack of Cub Wolves from Sudbury concocted hockey magic here tonight. In a dazzling exhibition they erased a one-game deficit by defeating Winnipeg Monarchs, 7-2, in the second of a three-game series for the Dominion junior amateur championship. Monarchs won the first game 7-6, and the third and deciding game will be played Saturday night. Sudbury ended the first period with a 2-1 lead and still kept the one-goal margin at the end of the second period when the score was 3-2. Adding another goal in the half-way mark in the final period, they rammed in three more for their five-goal margin in the last three minutes of play. More than 4,000 spectators wildly cheered the victorious rush of the Eastern champions. Wolves displayed a smoother combination, and this combined with an improved scoring, earned them their win. Monarch fans were dissatisfied with Referee Alex Irvin, of Ottawa. They showed their displeasure at frequent minor penalties meted out to the Manitobans by showering peanuts and programmes on to the ice. Play was halted several times in order to clear the ice. Sleek Alex Stuart, Sudbury left-winger, was the scoring threat with four markers to his credit. He netted two in the first period, added another in the second and sniped a fourth in the final period. "Chuck" Shannon, the thunderbolt on the Eastern attack, was outstanding in every play on the Western net.

BARNEY ROSS TO BE BUSY

Double Champion Expected To Meet McLarnin and Lou Ambers

NEW YORK, April 11 (CP).—The fight colony was telling itself today that peppery little Barney Ross will be seen in two championship fights in New York this summer.

A third collision between Jimmy McLarnin and Barney has long been looked upon as a foregone conclusion. Promoters and the handlers of the anguished Celt who stores the welter crown in his Vancouver home, and the Chicago Hebrew he dispensed last summer, still are talking fancy figures. However, the two fighters have expressed a willingness for the bout.

A clash between Ross and Lou Ambers for the lightweight title, the former holds in his able fists, was despaired of because it was considered the Chicago youth could not meet the weight requirements. Barney blasted that belief by scaling 136 1-2 when he easily outpointed Henry Woods in Seattle last Tuesday.

He showed power aplenty as he breezed over the twelve-round bout. Edging off another one and one-half pounds to make the lightweight limit should not be difficult.

Ross and Ambers, aptly dubbed the "Herkerim Hurricane," are expected to meet early in the summer. Mike Jacobs, promoting for the Hearst Milk Fund charity, holds tentative agreements with the two mittmen and recently asked the New York Athletic Commission to reserve June 5 for the title.

FAVOR CLOSING HIGHLAND AREA

Sportsmen Pass Resolution To Prohibit Hunting in District for Two Years

Closing of the Highland district, one of Vancouver Island's most popular hunting grounds, for a period of two years was, yesterday evening, endorsed by members of the Victoria and District Fish and Game Association at a well-attended meeting held at the Chamber of Commerce.

In addition to favoring placing this area out of bounds for all shooting for a period of two years, the members suggested that the Provincial Game Department be asked to stock the district with fallow deer from James Island.

A resolution asking the Provincial Game Department to stock Wolf Lake with 10,000 trout fry received the unanimous endorsement of the gathering. The suggestions will be forwarded to the Provincial Game Department by the secretary of the local association.

LAI'D ON TABLE
Sponsored by Mr. Justice Archer Martin, a resolution to have the present bird sanctuary at Elk Lake extended to include Prospect Lake was laid on the table until the next meeting of the association. The mover made an eloquent appeal for the adoption of the motion, but the members felt that they would like to have a little more time to consider the matter.

Major Roger Monteth, president of the association, announced that Secretary Stan Schmitt is organizing a crowd hunt and asked for the support of the members in this connection.

Following the business meeting, a number of movie films, the property of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, depicting wild life of the country and many beautiful scenic views, were presented by G. M. Warren. Mr. Warren prefaced the showing of the films with a short address on Canada's national parks.

SCOTTISH XI CHOSEN FOR COMING TOUR

Eight Internationals Are on Squad to Travel Through Canada and States

GLASGOW, April 11 (CP).—Eight internationals are included in the Scottish Football Association selected team to tour Canada and the United States during May and June. The names were announced following the semi-final Scottish Cup replay between Rangers and Hearts of Midlothian, won by Rangers, 2-0. The team will play seven games in the Dominion and five in the United States.

The players selected to make the tour follow:

Goal, J. Stevenson (Clyde); backs, A. Anderson (Hearts), G. Cummings (Partick Thistle), R. McDonald (Rangers), halfbacks, D. Meiklejohn (Rangers), A. Donnelly (Partick Thistle), H. Fraser (Aberdeen), P. Wilson (Hibernians), T. Smith (Kilmarnock); forwards, R. Main (Rangers), T. Walker (Hearts), H. Gallagher (Derby County), D. Wilson (Hamilton Academicals), J. Mills (Aberdeen), J. Miller (Partick Thistle), D. Duncan (Derby County), A. Ferguson (St. Johnstone).

A. Dixon, of Rangers, will act as trainer.

Anderson, Cummings, Walker, Gallagher and Duncan were included in the team which defeated England, Saturday, in the final international match of the season. Wilson, Smith and Meiklejohn are also international players.

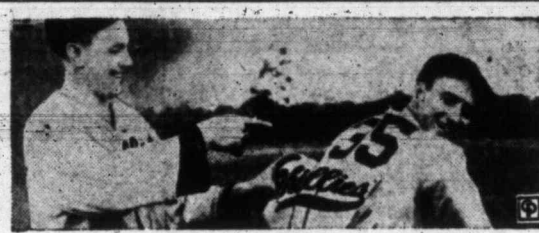

The team will arrive at New York on May 14. "The first game of the tour is scheduled for Philadelphia, May 18.

With such stalwarts as Anderson, Cummings, Walker, Gallagher and Duncan on the team the selectors evidently were determined that the touring side should return with a clean sheet. The last Scottish association team which played in Canada in 1927, lost one of a series of twenty games. During that tour the Scots scored 111 goals, only eighteen being notched against them.

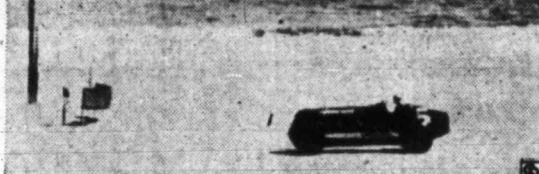

YOUNGSTER COMING
One of the outstanding players is Tommy Walker, heart of Midlothian forward. The young star, although only eighteen years of age, has been watched by scouts from all over the United Kingdom, and only recently his club turned down a $50,000 offer by Arsenal for his transfer. Walker is regarded as one of the greatest, if not the greatest, inside forward in British soccer today.

Canadian enthusiasts will also be interested in the play of Duncan, Derby County winger, who was responsible for both of the Scottish goals in the international match against England. Cummings, Partick Thistle back, also played a great game in this match.

BLINCO ONLY MONTREALER GIVEN PLACE

Placed on Second String All-Star N.H.L. Team by Selectors

Glancing over an article written by James C. Hendy, editor of The National Hockey Guide, in this month's issue of Maclean's Magazine, announcing the National Hockey League all-star teams, it is interesting, very interesting indeed, to note that only one member of the Montreal Maroons, recent winners of the Stanley Cup, symbolic of the world's professional hockey championship, is on the two line-ups.

Russ Blinco, star pivot player of Tommy Gorman's winning Montreal aggregation, has gained a berth on the second team named by managers and coaches of the N.H.L. None of the rest of the Maroons were even given consideration, not even on the substitute list, for which there are four players selected.

BEST SQUAD

Montreal proved beyond any doubt that it is the best offensive and defensive club in the National League when it went out and trimmed that powerful machine, Toronto Maple Leafs, in three straight games in the Stanley Cup play-offs, a feat never expected by 90 per cent of the dyed-in-the-wool followers of the world's fastest sport.

On the first string line-up, Tiny Thompson, Bruins, was given the goalie assignment, while Eddie Shore, Boston, and Art Coulter, Chicago, are the rear guard. On the attack is the veteran Frank Boucher, Rangers; Charlie Conacher, Toronto, and Harvey Jackson, another Maple Leaf. Roy Worters was picked on the second team for goal duty, while Earle Siebert, Rangers, and Happy Day, Leafs, were given defence berths. Blinco, Maroons; Aurie, Detroit; and Joliet, Canadiens, are the forwards. Welland, Clapper, P. Thompson and Goodfellow are the reserves.

FIVE CLUBS IN BASEBALL LOOP

Commercial League Plans To Open Season in May—Joe Casey Is President

With five clubs battling for the championship, the Victoria and District Commercial Baseball League will open its 1934-35 season about the second week in May. This decision was reached at the adjourned meeting held Wednesday evening at the Eagles Hall, Government Street. Only two of last season's clubs, Eagles, 1934 champion, and the Sons of Canada, runners-up, will play in the loop this season. Tillimus, Navy and Victoria Capitals, three new members, were admitted to complete the five-team set-up.

Joe Casey, who guided the Twilight Baseball League activities during the 1934 season, was elected president, with W. J. Pynn, as vice-president. Wally Simpson was named secretary, while Fred McGinnis, veteran ball player, was appointed treasurer.

Application for the use of the Royal Athletic Park for five nights a week has been made. The new members were admitted to complete the five-team set-up.

REACH SOCCER SERIES FINAL

Victoria High School "A" Team Defeats "B" Eleven 6-1 in Semi-Final

Checking in with a 6-1 victory over Victoria High School "B" squad yesterday afternoon at the Royal Athletic Park, Victoria High School "A" team reached the final of the recently-organized knockout series for High School eleven.

Next Tuesday afternoon at the Royal Athletic Park, the winners will battle Oak Bay High School in the series final.

Goals by Dallimore and O'Neil gave the eventual winners a 2-1 lead as the teams reached the interval. Fletcher netted the losers' only tally. In the final canto, the "A" squad ran in four additional markers, when MacMillan and O'Neil each scored once, and Dallimore banged home two goals. W. J. Cull refereed, and the teams were:

Victoria High School "A": Hornsby; Bishop; Cosier; Brown; Gent; Dallimore; Rowe; MacMillan; O'Neil; Barnes and Thorburn.

Victoria High School "B": Drummond; Embrey; Payne; Bishop; Bridge; Bray; Ord; Fletcher; Williams, Pierce and Newman.

MANITOBA HOOPMEN TO PRESENT STRONG SQUAD HERE MONDAY

Three Members of Disastrous Airplane Crash, Which Resulted in Two Players' Deaths, on Visiting Line-Up—Have Won Three Dominion Crowns—Ribbons Busy Working Out

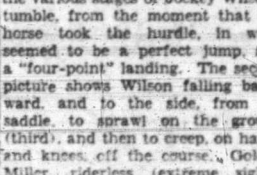

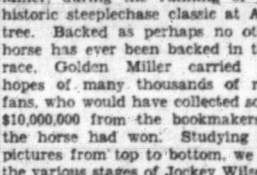

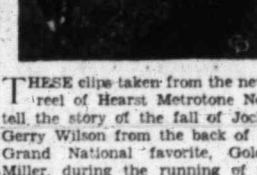

Perennial champions of Manitoba and one of the most illustrious teams in the Dominion of Canada, the Toilers of Winnipeg, who will be facing Victoria Blue Ribbons here Monday at the Willows in the first of a two-out-of-three-game series for the Western Canadian basketball championship, are gunning for another Canadian crown after being out of title competition for the past two seasons, due to an unfortunate plane accident on the last day of March, 1933.

According to word received here yesterday by J. A. Barnwell, manager of the Ribbons, the Toilers will arrive in the city Sunday afternoon and will be taken to the Strathcona Hotel, where they will be during their stay in Victoria. The visitors will hold a light workout Monday afternoon at the Willows in preparation for the opener in the evening.

Started and organized in 1910 by the late W. A. Aldritt, who died in February, 1933, the club has written many a page into Canadian basketball history. The growth of the game on the Prairies can be directly attributed to the continued success of the Toilers. The game grew by leaps and bounds in Manitoba through the enthusiasm and class they showed.

WON THREE TITLES
The Toilers, in their many campaigns for the Dominion championships, never once lost the title after they had gained entrance to the final. Three times they have returned to the Vaughan Street Y.M.C.A., Winnipeg, with the crown. The only time the Winnipeggers lost out in their quest for a Canadian title was when they were ousted by a Western team in the preliminary play-downs. Their fighting spirit and teamwork has always dominated their ranks.

Although the squad coming to Victoria is just a skeleton of the one which lifted the Canadian crown in 1932 and was all set to defend their title when the ill-fated air crash took place, they have been trained the same way and, apparently, are never beaten until the final whistle. Lauder Phillips, Ian Woolley and Bruce Dods are the three survivors of the airplane smash which occurred when the Toilers were returning from Tulsa after a series with the American titleholders, who will be in uniform against the Ribbons.

DISASTROUS TRIP
Crashing near the Canadian border on their way home after the final game, the plane carried to death two brilliant forwards of the Winnipeg squad, Joe Dods and Mike Shea. The rest of the team were critically injured and some of them were forced to retire from the court game. The team that season was as follows: Hugh Penyarden, Joe Dods, Mike Shea, Bruce Dods, Andy Brown, Al Silverthorne, Lauder Phillips and Ian Woolley. George Wilson was manager and A. C. Samson was president.

The present quintette is comprised of the following ball handlers, all of them well-versed in the game: Hampton, Simms, Wallace, Woolley, Phillips, Driver, Dods and Davidson. The members of this aggregation have plenty of fight in them and displayed it in the final game against Raymond Union Jacks when they rallied desperately to win, 31-30. Trailing, 30-18, at the end of the third quarter, the Toilers pulled off almost the impossible by tossing in thirteen points in the last ten minutes, while they held the opposition scoreless.

Blue Ribbons are working out each evening at the Willows and will report for duty Monday night in the best of condition. Manager Barnwell and Trainer Dave Nicol are putting the boys through strenuous training sessions; and have every hope of guiding the squad through to the Dominion final.

Work continued on the seating arrangements yesterday, and everything will be in readiness for the opener, which is expected to attract a capacity house.

Remember When

(Twenty-Five Years Ago)

The North Ward lacrosse team has definitely decided to enter senior company this season with the Cloverdale and Victoria West twelves. These three teams should, "taintly make an interesting league as they are evenly matched.

Joe Dakers, "Dug" Campbell and Frank Sweeney are at present working hard to put out the fastest twelve that can be got together in the North Ward. All of last year's players will be on deck again, and a few of last year's seniors will be seen in the Ward line-up. Among them will be "Tudie" Sargison, the first home player who figured with the Centrals a few years ago but was out of the game last year.

The basketball quintette of the High School leave this afternoon for New Westminster, where they will clash in the last game of the season with the champion Columbia College team of New Westminster, whom they meet tonight. The boys will endeavor to bring home some honor to this city and, incidentally, slip over a win on the Mainland champions.

No word has been received from Ladysmith in regard to dates for their two matches with the North Wards for the Island championship, and E. Taylor, captain of the Wards, said last evening "that unless some dates are arranged soon we will not be able to fill them as most of the football players have to get in and train for lacrosse."

OLD COUNTRY ELEVEN NEARING END OF SEASON

Sunderland Meets Cup Finalists in Match Tomorrow

Second-Place Squad Takes On Sheffield Wednesday, While Arsenal Clashes With Wolverhampton Wanderers—Glasgow Rangers Have Good Lead in Scottish League

LONDON, April 11 (CP).—Sunderland's chances for English soccer supremacy were given a crushing blow yesterday, and as a consequence of Manchester City's 1-0 victory at Maine Road, Arsenal leads in the closing drive for the championship with a margin of three points.

The three clubs each have six games to play before the close of the season. Arsenal is on the top of the heap with forty-nine points, Sunderland has forty-six, and Manchester City, forty-five. While the Gunners have a distinct advantage, the heavy Easter holiday programme may yet result in a change in the position of the clubs.

The Londoners will be without Copping, their international left half, when they visit the Midlands Saturday, for a tough game with Wolverhampton Wanderers. The player is suffering from knee cartilage trouble, necessitating an operation. The Gunners are enthusiastic over their chances of winning the championship three years in succession.

SPURS HANDICAPPED
Tottenham Hotspurs' cup of bitterness is overflowing. Added to their desperate position at the bottom of the league, further casualties are reported, and the competition of the team to play Birmingham at White Hart Lane was not decided on today.

Who will accompany the Spurs into the Second Division is a question agitating supporters of several clubs. Middlesbrough, Leeds, Birmingham and Leicester are all in the danger zone.

Sunderland plays Sheffield Wednesday, cup finalists, at Roker Park, while Manchester City visits Grimsby.

Leader of the Second Division, Brentford is away to Manchester United, and a point will make promotion to the First Division certain. The Bees will field their strongest team, and the United will again be at full strength with the return of Rowley at inside left. West Ham United and Bolton Wanderers also have eyes on the First Division. Charlton Athletic is at home to Watford in the Third Division. Southern Section, but the Valley Parade outfit is practically certain of promotion. A different situation exists in the Northern Section, where Doncaster Rovers assumed leadership today by defeating their rivals, Tranmere Rovers. At home to Lincoln City the new leaders should widen the margin over the runners-up.

GLASGOW, April 11 (CP).—Scottish Soccer Cup finalists having been definitely decided, leading clubs are now bent on keeping Glasgow Rangers from making the race a one-team show.

The champions are six points in front of Celtic with the end of the season in sight. While there is no doubt about leadership, the cellar occupants have become involved in a great fight to stay in the league.

Two of these clubs, St. Mirren and Ayr United, have created quite a stir during the past month, and have collected much-needed points at the expense of some of the leaders.

Rangers, who qualified to meet Hamilton Academicals in the Cup final by defeating Hearts, 2-0, return to league warfare Saturday, meeting Aberdeen on the latter's ground.

Celtic is at home to the thirteenth place Airdrieonians and should come out on top. Hamilton Academicals had two games in two days during the week, splitting the points. They are at home to Queen of Scotland in seventeenth position. The visitors may spring a surprise on the tired Airdies. Hearts play away from home at Kilmarnock.

Arbroath has a good chance of catching up to Third Lanark for leadership of the Second Division. Arbroath is at home to East Fife, while the Cathkin squad has an open date. St. Bernard's in third place, are at home to East Stirling.

Mrs. Black—Bothered with time-wasting callers, are you? Why don't you try my plan?

Mrs. White—What is your plan?

Mrs. Black—Why, when the bell rings, I put on my hat and gloves. If it proves to be someone I don't want to see, I simply say, "So sorry, but I'm just going out."

Mrs. White—But suppose it's someone you do want to see.

Mrs. Black—Oh, then I say: "So fortunate. I've just come in."

INDIANS TAKE SECOND GAME AGAINST REDS

Seattle Ball Club Captures Long Battle From Mission Nine, 10-5

COAST LEAGUE
Seattle's Indians took the odd game of the series from Missions at San Francisco yesterday by a 10-5 score in a contest that dragged out for nearly three hours, and used up a fleet of pitchers on each side.

A four-run rally in the fifth saw the Indians come from behind. They retained the lead thereafter.

Ray Jacobs, first baseman, smashed a home run over the centre field wall in the ninth inning at Los Angeles to give Hollywood a 4-3 victory over Portland and a two-to-one edge in their baseball series.

Manager "Lefty" O'Doul led his visiting San Francisco Seals to their first victory of the season when they defeated Oakland, 5-4.

Lou Garland threw two-hit baseball at Sacramento as Los Angeles won its third straight game, 4-0 to sweep the short series with the Senators.

"TURF TALK"
Perhaps it's the weather that conjures up the picture of colored silks and thoroughbred horses. It won't be long now! Ted Clark, good-looking horse by Chattertown from Uncle Lasse, should be Canada's biggest money winner for 1935. Ted Clark is being prepared for stake engagements in Texas after an excellent showing during the South's Winter racing. He will go to the post at Woodbine, Toronto, for the Toronto Cup, carrying the colors of Dr. C. N. Mooney. It appears that the jock will be Nick Wall, who has ridden him before in Kentucky.

The talk around Canadian stables this year deplores the fact that there is a scarcity of trained riders. It seems that the little fellows gained no experience through the Winter in Canada and there are only a few new boys coming up.

One of the highlights in Canadian turf activity this year is the entry by Gordon Perry, of Toronto, of Trocadero in the Grand National. We can only recall one Canadian who has ever ridden in the Grand National. That was Lex Wilson, who gave a good account of himself on Sea Soldier and finished the course. Mr. Wilson later purchased Azucar for F. M. Alger, of Detroit, and his judgment proved correct when Azucar romped off with $100,000, the year's biggest money, at Santa Anita.

The prospects for a closely contested battle for the historic King's Plate looms greater than ever this year. But we opine that, as they wheel into the home stretch, Listara will show silver-shod heels to those other great favorites, Gay Sympathy, Epicurus and Lipton.

SWIM SQUAD SETS RECORD
Seattle Mermaids Better Own World's Mark in Relay Event

CHICAGO, April 11 (AP).—The Washington Athletic Club team, of Seattle, bettered the world's record in the 440-yard relay at the Lake Shore Club long course pool tonight, streaking to the national women's title in the fast time of 4:15.3.

The old mark of 4:19.2 also was held by the Seattle club team. The Carnegie Library Club, Homestead, Pa., defending titleholder, finished second with the Lake Shore team third. The Detroit Yacht Club quartette was disqualified for an illegal start.

Betty Lea, sixteen-year-old star, led her Far Western teammates to victory in the first race. She was the second in the relay and hauled away to a good lead that her mates held to the finish, winning by six feet. The record-breaking team was made up of Mary Lou Petty, Doris Buckley, Olive McKean, and Miss Lea.

Sandy Marling and J. H. Scott finished in a tie for first place in the men's par competition, at the Royal Colwood Golf Club, by ending their rounds two up.

BITSY GRANT GIVEN PLACE ON U.S. TEAM

Atlanta Net Star Named on Davis Cup Squad—Budge And Mako Included

NEW YORK, April 11 (AP).—Bryant M. (Bitsy) Grant, the pint-sized Georgian, who for several years has been trying to win Davis Cup recognition, is slated to be a member of the United States team which will meet China in a North American zone cup match in Mexico City next month.

The ambitious Atlantan, clay court champion and Frank X. Shields, third ranking star, will carry the singles assignment, while Donald Budge and Gene Mako, youthful Pacific Coast team, will play in the doubles. It was learned today on high authority.

The team will be announced officially within two weeks.

Wilmer Allison and Sidney B. Wood, Jr., respectively first and second ranking stars, will not make the jaunt to Mexico. They played there before and disliked the rarified atmosphere.

When the team finally is assembled for the trip abroad, however, Allison and Wood will be top-flight members of the squad.

"GOOD FAIRY" IS DOMINION STORY

Margaret Sullivan and Herbert Marshall Starred in Rollicking Comedy

When a young girl, knowing nothing about the so-called "facts of life," emerges from the seclusion of an orphanage and faces the world alone, many things are liable to happen.

This is conclusively shown in "The Good Fairy," which is now playing at the Dominion Theatre with Margaret Sullivan and Herbert Marshall.

In this rollicking story, the youthful Margaret is an inmate of an orphanage and leaves when she is selected for a position as an usherette. Her adventures begin at once and she is taken under the protecting wing of an eccentric waiter. He takes upon himself the task of protecting her from the amorous advances of a wealthy meat packer, the "big bad wolf" of the picture. Finally, to protect herself from the latter, after he has promised to lavish costly gifts on her, she tells him she is married, selecting at random from the telephone book the name of her "husband."

The meat packer resolves to work through her husband and gives him a position at an enormous salary. Then the complications begin.

Little Stories for Bedtime

Peter Makes Another Startling Discovery

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

Anxiously Peter Rabbit peered out from the great pile of brush made by the fallen trees deep in the Green Forest. "If only I could know whether or not Hooty the Owl is still watching I certainly would feel better," thought Peter. "Then I would know what to do. As it is I do not know whether to go or stay. It must be most time for jolly, round Mr. Sun to begin his daily climb up in the blue, blue sky. Just as soon as Mr. Sun really gets up Hooty will be sure to go to his home in the darkest, most lonesome part of the Green Forest, and then it will be safe for me to leave here."

So Peter tried to be patient while he waited for jolly, round, red Mr. Sun to get up. He squatted just as close to the edge of the big pile of brush as he could get without showing himself outside. You see he wanted to be just as far as possible from Buster Bear, who was sleeping under the middle of that great pile of brush. It seemed to Peter that never had he known time to pass so slowly. Every minute seemed like a whole hour. That was because he was so scared, you know. But at last the moonbeams began to fade away, and presently Peter saw the first jolly little sunbeams stealing in through the Green Forest. Peter gave a little sigh of relief. It wouldn't be long now before it would be quite light in the

"Hooty and Mrs. Hooty have moved over here!" gasped Peter

Green Forest and he would feel sure that Hooty the Owl had gone home.

You can guess how eagerly Peter watched the light peeping through the trees and how he looked this way and that way for signs of Hooty the Owl. It was while he was looking up in the treetops for Hooty that his attention was drawn to a dark mass in the top of one of the trees close at hand. "There's the nest of Redtail the Hawk," thought Peter. "I am glad he isn't back from the South yet. If he were I might not get away from here so easily."

Peter continued to stare up at Redtail's old nest. He did it without thinking what he was doing, because his mind was so busy with plans for escape. Suddenly his heart gave a funny little jump inside him. It seemed to him that something had moved up in that nest of Redtail. Peter stared harder than ever now, you may be sure. He was watching to see if he could see another movement of any kind. He was so intent watching that nest that he didn't see a great brown form sailing noiselessly over the treetops until it alighted on the very edge of the nest and stood very straight. A great head with two ears like small horns slowly turned until Peter saw two fierce yellow eyes. Then another head with equally fierce eyes loomed above the edge of the nest.

"Hooty and Mrs. Hooty have moved over here!" gasped Peter. And once more the little cold chills ran all over him.

INTER-CITY CUE FIXTURE BILLED

Great War Veterans of Vancouver To Meet Pro Patria Branch Players Here Tomorrow

Cue experts representing the Great War Veterans' Association of Vancouver will be seen in action here Saturday when they meet the Pro Patria Branch of the Canadian Legion representatives in the annual inter-city match for the L. D. Taylor Cup, symbolic of the British Columbia ex-servicemen's billiard championship. The fixture will be played on the tables of the Pro Patria Branch, and is scheduled to commence at 8 o'clock.

The teams: Great War Veterans—Beach, Cobbold, Bissett and Hayward. Pro Patria Branch—S. Oakes, P. Fitzsimmons, A. McKittick and H. Hobbs.

Considerable interest is being shown in the match, which is expected to be witnessed by a large following of billiard enthusiasts. Following the game the visitors will be entertained at a dinner and smoking concert by the Pro Patria Branch of the Canadian Legion.

SQUIRM CARD NOW COMPLETE

Strech and Jenkins Signed for Semi-Wind-Up on Tomorrow's Programme

Impressed with the excellent showing that he made against Count George Zaryoff in last week's main event, Promoter Fred Richardson yesterday signed Mike Stretch, popular young Yugoslavian, for the semi-wind-up position on tomorrow's squirm card at the Tillicum gymnasium. The 216-pound grappler from Belgrade will tackle George Jenkins, a newcomer to Pacific Coast grappling circles.

Topping the all-heavyweight programme will be the colorful and agile Count George Zaryoff, Russian exponent of the mat game, and Herman Oakes, good-looking and promising youngster from Philadelphia. This bout is scheduled for eight ten-minute rounds, and the semi-wind-up is billed for five eight-minute rounds.

STRELICH RETURNS

Mike Strelach is another crowd pleaser from the very first going. He mixes freely, displays considerable knowledge of the wrestling game and is capable of taking plenty of punishment. Little is known of George Jenkins, his opponent, who is among the more recent arrivals on the Pacific Coast. In Eastern mat circles, Jenkins scored a number of impressive wins and should make things interesting for Strelach.

Two preliminaries, with the first starting at 8:30 o'clock, will round out the card.

Johnny Pears will be the third man in the ring for all bouts.

Maccabees Will Battle Saanich Eleven Sunday

Finishing in second place in the Pendray Cup series, Maccabees, mid-week soccer eleven, will journey to Hampton Road grounds, Sunday afternoon, to meet the Saanich All-Stars in an exhibition fixture. Interesting Shots Seen in Colonist Screen News Here

PRESIDENT Roosevelt approves Philippine independence. The United States chief executive is to be seen and heard in the current issue of The Colonist Universal newsreel, starting today at the Dominion Theatre, approving a draft of the constitution for the islands. Graham McNamee, noted radio announcer and the screen's talking reporter, introduces the principal actors in this historical drama and also vividly describes the other important events of the reel.

The United States House passes the Patman Bonus Bill by a vote of 318 to 90, arranging to pay the ex-soldiers' adjusted compensation with an issue of paper money amounting to $2,000,000,000. The sponsor explains it in newsreel interview included in the current issue. Among other news highlights are dramatic scenes of Kansas City, Mo., in the grip of a blinding dust storm; the free-for-all fight which interrupts the New York Rangers' hockey victory over the Montreal Canadiens at Madison Square Garden, New York City; the miraculous rescue of an airman at Melbourne, Australia, who crashes while going to the rescue of a swimmer attacked by sharks; and a three-year-old boy in Los Angeles who is blond on one side and brunette on the other as the result of a strange malady.

CULBERTSON on CONTRACT

By Ely Culbertson
World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

THE CHIMERICAL CANON Occupying a prominent place in the arsenal of my esteemed adversary, Mr. Sims, is a glittering, fearsome, and almost legendary device known as the Sims three-bid. I say "almost legendary" because, although a lot of people have heard about it, few have actually seen it in action. This is not because it is deliberately kept in reserve, but because this awesome instrument, geared to micrometric precision, is unfortunately useful only for hands that are near the outermost bounds of mathematical probability.

We will, in the course of the present match, probably play 1,000 hands, and I am willing to wager that in all these hands neither Mr. nor Mrs. Sims will have what in their system would be a three-bid. But if they should, I am willing to admit they will probably make the most of it.

East, dealer. Both sides vulnerable.

South, dealer. Neither side vulnerable.

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
Pass	3♥(1)	Pass	4♦(2)
Pass	5♦(3)	Pass	6♦(4)
Pass	6♥(5)	Pass	Pass

1. Calling for partner's highest ranking ace.
2. The conventional response.
3. North's response has denied the ace of spades. There is still a chance for the slam, however, if partner holds the kind of diamonds. This bid asks for that information.
4. "Yes, sir, I have it."
5. Perfect.

There is no question about the efficacy of this three-bid on hands that are really two-bids with unusual distributions where information is wanted only about specific aces or kings needed to make a slam. The bid is also effective when the original bidder has a void suit and would have no use for high card strength in that suit because he could not reach partner's hand.

The Sims three-bid is a forthright declaration of power in which no finesse is necessary, and variation from rigid procedure strictly "verboten." Its great weakness is the infrequency of its occurrence.

A strictly pre-emptive three-bid is undoubtedly of greater value because the type of hand it indicates crops up every day.

PERFUME

Great oaks from little acorns grow, runs the adage. So also did a great industry arise from man's aversion to the odor of burning flesh.

Perfume was not always the sensuous sort of thing with which we today associate it. The word itself, composed of two Latin words meaning from smoke, gives a clue to its original purpose.

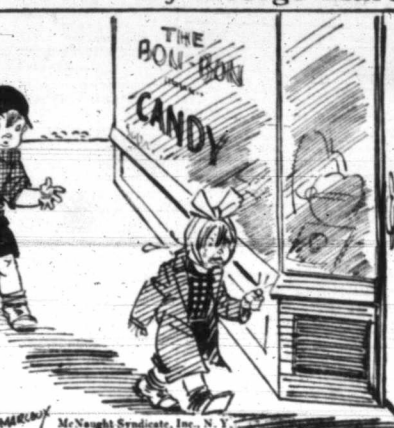

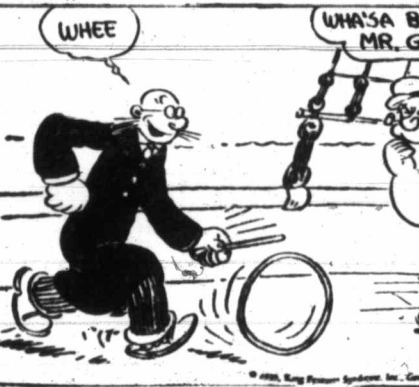

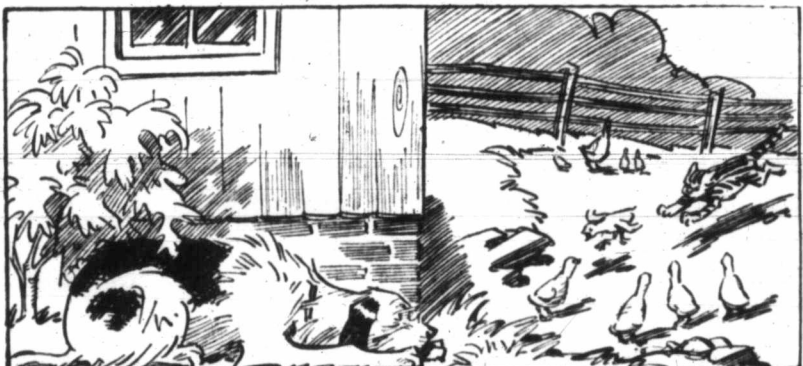

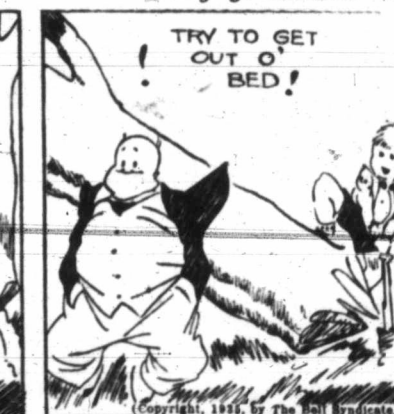

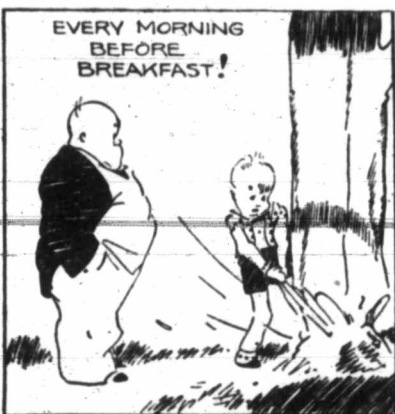

Perfumes were first obtained through the combustion of aromatic woods and gums which would be lighted when animals were sacrificed. The idea was to counteract the objectionable smell of the burnt offering.

Subsequently perfumes came into wide use in churches, places of public gathering and only lastly for the enhancement of personal charms.

"Young man," said the city merchant, severely, "I notice that you are almost invariably from ten to twenty minutes late in getting to the office!"

"I know, sir," replied the youth, "but you seem to set such a small value on my time that I don't think it mattered much," answered the young man

The Beautiful Derelict
by Carolyn Wells

CHAPTER XI

"I am not willing to mention a name," said Pat Wayne, "but since you ask me so directly, I will say that I think Barry's death lies at the door of one who slept in this house the night before the boy was killed. I have no proof. I have no evidence, that is why I mention no name. But if you find any proof against anyone, let me know, and I will tell you if it is the same."

"Very well, Mr. Wayne," Fleming Stone said, "I'd rather you wouldn't mention your suspect's name. Tell me something of your servants. That man, Hezekiah, now, is he trustworthy?"

"Oh, yes, entirely. He's a native around here, and he is devoted to Dan and myself, and he was a perfect slave to Barry. Kiah came to us when Harry was a little chap. When you question Hezekiah, you may depend on truthful answers."

"And Mrs. Mingle?"

"Likewise. Though you must remember that Ming is daffy about her man as she calls us three Waynes. You won't get anything out of her in our disfavor."

"I think you must tell us, Mr. Wayne," Inspector Cox broke in, "who it is that you suspect."

"Hardly worth while, Cox," Fleming Stone said, "I think we can name him at a first guess."

Pat Wayne stared at the speaker. "Try it," he said, looking incredulous.

"Too easy," said Stone, smiling a little. "You have in mind Mr. Holt, because he is the only one who slept in this house the night before the tragedy who could be suspected. Unless you mean Van Zandt killed Barry, and I don't think he did. And I'm sure you don't mean Barry killed Van Zandt."

"No, I think you are justified in eliminating the boy. And I'd be quite ready to suspect Van Zandt. If I could see how he brought it about, but, as you guessed, Holt is the one I had in mind. I think, for some reason, he hated Barry, and didn't want Jane to marry him. How it would be possible for Holt to bring about such a complicated and deeply plotted murder is beyond my comprehension, but if you look into this with your skilled and experienced judgment, and declare Steve Holt innocent, nobody will be more pleased than I."

"You helped Van Zandt to fill his pocket box of soda-mints that morning, I believe."

"Yes, Mr. Stone. I held the bit bottle while he took what he needed. I shook some out in his palm, and he took part of them and put the rest back in the bottle, which I replaced on its shelf. But I assure you I put in his box no sodium or whatever you call it, nor any poisonous drug. I was not a great admirer of Van Zandt, but I had no earthly reason to desire his death."

"Did Mr. Holt have?"

"Not to my knowledge. But it's hard to tell about people. Mrs. Van Zandt is a charming woman; more, she is a fascinating woman, a siren. Steve Holt admires her greatly. She flirted with him as she does with every man she meets and Van Zandt resented it. Yet I can't see Holt really killing Van in the hope of marrying his widow."

"Can you see Mr. Holt wanting to kill Barry because he didn't want him to marry Jane?"

"When you put it as bluntly as that, I must say no. But many crimes are committed because of love or passion that we never suspected was so powerful."

"You seem to have escaped the siren powers of Mrs. Van Zandt."

Pat shrugged his shoulders. "I've known her so long," he said, "I'm fed up with her blandishments. But if I could see any way she might have accomplished these crimes, I could find it in my heart to suspect her."

"A Borgia?"

"Hardly that, but a woman who would stop at nothing to gain her ends."

"Her ends in this case being?"

"Freedom from a husband she had long since ceased to love; wealth, which would come to her from his insurance—he hadn't much otherwise—and a possibility of trying some other matrimonial fetters."

"Not good enough," said Inspector Cox. "How could a woman go aboard the yacht, after the two men were on it, administer poison to her husband, and then kill Barry over the head with a heavy club, or something, and make a getaway?"

"She might manage the husband part," said Stone, "but not the rest. Unless Barry stood with his back to her and she crept down the stairs softly."

"It's a problem, seems to me," said Pat, "that we can't solve by argument or discussion. We need some solid, definite facts to put us on the right track. Suppose we assume that the two men started for the clubhouse docks, as we know they did. Then, being bound for Newport, they made generally west, or northwest. Nobody went on board with them, for I asked the dock people, and therefore we must conclude that some craft overhauled them later on, that someone on it boarded the Mad Anthony, and that then the crimes occurred."

"All right, so far, Mr. Wayne," Cox said, "but unless we know who the visitor to the yacht was, we don't seem to be any forrader."

"But you agree that is the way it must have happened?" Pat insisted.

Cox nodded his head to this, but Fleming Stone said, "I don't agree to that, no. Why couldn't there have been a man on the yacht before the two went aboard, hidden, of course, who appeared after they had started?"

"And then committed his crimes, fixed up the place, and stepped off the deck?" Pat smiled at him.

"I didn't overlook that point,"

Stone told him, "and its weakness is that it implies a confederate. A man in a boat must have some-thing, and taken him away. Now, murderers seldom have accomplices, but they do sometimes, and if the accomplice is enough afraid of his master, it may work. Another possibility is that our murderer might have done his work, set the engine going himself, sailed to some lonely strip of beach, and then slipped the engine a few feet from land, jumped overboard and swam ashore."

"How account for himself, dressed, drenched and cast away?"

"I'm not explaining, Mr. Wayne; I'm only suggesting possibilities, even improbabilities. Then there's a chance of the crimes having been done by a professional 'killer.' Suppose some clever brain planned them and hired murderers to do the work, though I admit the nature of the crimes is against that theory."

"What about alibis?" asked Pat. "Take the crowd in the house. We can all speak for one another. We were here at breakfast, Barry and Van with us; then they went their way, leaving all the rest of us here in the house. I think no one of us left the dining-room before full time for the yacht to get away. Leonard, the chauffeur, was back from the club before I left the breakfast table, and most of the others were with me. Anyway, you can check up on it, and see what they say."

"The murders may have occurred later in the day," said the inspector. "We have no real reason to assume any given time. After being dead twenty-four hours or more, the doctors couldn't say positively when they died."

"But we have some evidence," Stone demurred. "I hold the deeds were done not long after starting, because the morning paper was still folded with the first page outside. If Van Zandt had been on board long, he would have gone on to another page."

"Slim," said Cox.

"Hello," said Pat, "here's Dan. Come along in, boy."

Daniel Webster Wayne came into the room slowly. The man had visibly aged in the past two days; the spring had gone from his footsteps and the brightness from his eyes.

"Learn anything down in the village?" his brother asked him.

"No; I spent most of the time at the mortuary parlors. Vera wants to have a double funeral up here and take Van Zandt's body down to New York later on."

"Well, I've no objections, have you?" Pat returned.

"No, I suppose not. It jars on me, though. Oh, well, never mind it now. What are you all talking about?"

"About the possibilities," Stone told him. "I suppose you have the same confidence in the servants that your brother shows."

"Most of them, yes. Ming and Kiah above all suspicion. Fred, the boatyard man, all right, so far as I know. And the others—but, Mr. Stone, I can't suspect the servants as a case like this. A great crime and a skillful crime such as has come to us, can't be judged by petty standards, and to me it is out of the question to connect the awful affair with hirelings. They wouldn't dare—yet I admit it's hard to say what anyone would dare, Mr. Stone, and, too, a hireling might be a tool, employed by a master criminal."

"True enough; but still, the murders on the yacht seem to me to have been carried out by the master brain that conceived them."

"You think the murdered intended to kill both men?"

"I think it unlikely. To me it seems more probable that one murderer necessitated the other."

"Yes, I fear that. You're searching the rooms, I take it?"

"Yes, Mr. Dan, and I'd like to run through yours next. After that, your son's. I assure you we will make very little disturbance."

"Do what you wish, Mr. Stone. The matter is entirely in your hands; conduct it as you will. Keep me advised of important findings, but don't trouble me with unnecessary or unimportant details."

Dan led the way to his own rooms and Stone followed, without waiting for Inspector Cox, who was talking with Pat.

"You're not getting anywhere," Mr. Stone said, more sympathetically than as if criticizing. "Getting my bearings," Stone returned. "I have to make the acquaintance of Barry's relatives and friends before I can go very far. And everyone I meet gives me a new hint or a new way to look for the truth we are searching for. After I have talked to a few more of your household, I shall be ready to put my observations to use."

"You've discovered something?"

"Nothing definite, no. But you must remember not much time has passed. Only about forty-eight hours or so since those two men left this house, and only a little more than twenty-four hours that I have been on the job. There has been no wasted time, I assure you."

"Oh, no, I don't mean that. I know you are faced with a most mysterious case."

"It is a great blank, Mr. Wayne, a vista like a prairie, with no trees to look behind. Yet something may break, must break, pretty soon. We must find something."

"You have learned nothing that you are withholding?"

"Not a thing. I consider anything of importance I may find a matter to be told you at once. No, I have no real reason to suspect anyone I have met, so far."
